school team last season. He is a good deceptive floorman, and long-shot. He averaged 12 points a game for the season.

Nick Wall of Richwood was the only veteran Coach Fetter had returning from his outstanding team of last season. Nick played in only five games in the league because of a sprained ankle, but finished second in the scoring. He averaged 16.6 points a game. Nick set an all-time county record for Union county this past season as he scored 44 points in a game with York High school. He is tall, rugged and a deceptive faker.

The backbone of the championship Marysville team was little wirey Leo Robinson. A fine floorman, good shot from any place on the floor and an aggressive defensive player, Robinson led the league in scoring with a total of 87 points, for an average of 14.5 points per game.

Moran, the fifth member of the team, was outstanding on defense. He was steady, not sensational, but always dependable. He is the type of player that comes through in the pinches. He scored 40 points in the league season.

All team members but Robinson are seniors.

Semi-Pro Stuff

Although Dumont calls his outfit "non-professional" his 1945 tournament at Wichita was so loaded with professionals that they picked two all-star teams ....The second, listed as "best prospects for organized ball" included Lou Kretlow, of the champion Enid, Okla., Army team, who now is on the Detroit Tigers' roster, and Grady Hatton of the Greensboro, N. C., team, who collected something like $25,000 for signing with Cincinnati .... They may be worth watching this year.

MORE HELD IN RIOT AFTER OHIO TOURNEY

Five Now Face Charges in Basketball Melee.

By The Associated Press

WAVERLY, O., March 14 — Three men were arrested yesterday and ordered held for Pike county authorities in connection with a riot that followed the Class B sectional high school basketball tournament game here last Saturday night, in which Wheelersburg defeated New Boston, 36-28, and won the chance to try in the regionals.

They are Robert Weaver of New Boston and Russel Bowen of near Minford, both charged with assault and battery, and Edwin Baker of New Boston, charged with causing a disturbance, refusal to disperse and inciting fights.

The arrest of the trio brought the total to five facing charges as a result of the spectators' melee. Sheriff Jesse H. Foster said the men probably would be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Earl D. Parker here Friday.

Training Camp Highlights

By The Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 14 — If Manager Billy Southworth's actions speak louder than his words, he has made up his mind about four of his Boston Braves' regular berths. Johnny McCarthy will be his first baseman, Connie Ryan his second sacker, Johnny Hopp his centerfielder and "Bama" Rowell his leftfielder.

Tribe Hurlers Active

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Vic Johnson, Mel Harder and Ed Klieman will divide the hurling chores for the Cleveland Indians here today against the St. Louis Cardinals. Ralph McCabe, Hal Kleine and Byran Stephens will work three innings each against the New York Yankees at Bradenton.

Connie Likes Canadian

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — If Phil Marchildon, Canadian war veteran, "can pitch the way he did in 1942, says Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, "I'll be glad to tear up his contract and give him more money." Marchildon, who signed yesterday for $7,500 though he asked for $12,000, won 17 games and lost 14 in 1942.

Reds Face Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds call on pitchers Nate Andrews, Johnny Vander Meer and Joe Beggs to take the measure of the "all-conquering" New York Yankees in an exhibition game here today.

The Yankees' No. 1 gang, comprising Joe Di Maggio, Charley Keller, Joe Gordon and others, is featured in today's contest, the first of four Redleg-Yankee exhibitions scheduled.

Cincinnati did everything but outscore the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday in losing 1-0. It was the Reds first loss in three and snapped a four-game losing streak for St. Louis.

DICKMAN RETIRES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Emerson Dickman, former pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, has retired from organized baseball to devote most of his time to his own manufacturing business in Jersey City, N. J. Dickman, however, plans to confine his pitching to semi-pro ball in the east. During the war Dickman was stationed at the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy.

Abel Gilbert, South American swimming star from Guadauqila, Ecuador, has enrolled at Michigan State College to study agriculture.

ISALY'S CAGERS WIN SECOND IN Y LOOP

Defeat Roecker Squad in Playoff; Scorers Listed.

Isaly Dairy, playing their best game of the year, won the second place trophy in the "Y" Independent league last night. There was no doubt as to who had the better ball team on the floor last night as Isaly's went out at the start and got a lead. It was the veteran guard Williams and rookie Harbolt for Isaly's who proved to be the sparkplugs. Between these two boys, who were definitely on the eventual winners were able to build a good sized first half margin. Ray Smith of Roecker's kept his team in the game by his heavy scoring in the second half.

Chile Uses Novel Plan to Boost Athletics

By JOSE M. GODOY
Associated Press Newsfeatures

SANTIAGO, CHILE—Young Chileans are outdoing themselves in these days in a sustained program of physical culture in search of the coveted government insignia proclaiming them "physically apt."

Things will soon reach the point, say the program's enthusiastic sponsors, where a young blade won't have a chance with his sweetie if he can't produce the badge across his sweater front or in the lapel of his Sunday coat denoting him a genuine government approved all-round Chilean athlete.

The other lads, says the Direction of Information and Culture, just won't be in the running when it comes to getting a girl for the Plaza promenades.

It all started with the DIC's program of "A sound mind in a sound body" as it set about to prove that "the progress of a people has always depended on the physical, intellectual and moral capacity of its members." History, says the DIC, shows decadence or growth in direct relation to these attributes.

The DIC hit upon the idea of an insignia "to give prominent recognition to those demonstrating physical conditions compatible with a health worthy to be admired." It's patriotic, says the DIC, to keep your health in order better to serve Chile.

The list of minimum requirements to win the insignia are guaranteed to start any youth on his way to decathlon honors. Briefly he must: run 100 meters in 15 seconds, swim fifty meters in a minute or pedal a bicycle 1000 meters in a minute and a half. After getting by this "velocity" test, he goes on to the "resistance" group, where times are slower but distances longer, to wit: 5,000 meters in 25 minutes, 20,000 meters by bicycle in an hour, 5,000 meter walk in 50 minutes or an 800 meter swim in half an hour.

If you're getting tired, don't go on as there's no rest in the next test. Classed under the heading of "elasticity," it includes a 1.35 meter high jump, 4.50 meter broad jump, or 2.50 pole vault. After that the body muscles come in for some flexing as the candidate tries his "force" in throwing a 7.257 kilogram shot eight meters, a two kilo disc 27 meters or a javelin 33 meters.

As the clincher there's a competition listed simply as "various" demanding either 400 meters in 1.10, 1000 meters in a rowing skiff in eight minutes, a 60 kilo weight lift, a score of 60 out of a 100 with rifle at 150 meters or an obstacle course on horseback clearing eight out of eight 1.20 meter high barriers.

Physical culture, says the DIC, "not only strengthens the body but enables greater efforts by the individual in his daily work, forming at the same time individual habits of discipline and companionship indispensable to one's social well being." In short, says the DIC, it makes for a better race.

The DIC was established during the administration of the late President Pedro Aguirre Cerda and has been gaining impetus ever since. Chilean athletic societies have adopted the DIC's plan of training and are pointing their members toward proficiency in the events listed.

Plain citizens, moved by patriotic or other impulses, are also trying to become "physically apt" with the encouragement of the DIC. Several hundred have already won their badges and other hundreds are in training.

WINS RICH TRAPSHOOT

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, March 14 — Homer Clark Jr., of East Alton, Ill., was $2,400 better off today and the international flyer champion of the 39th annual interstate trapshooting tournament. The Illinois shooter, with a score of 70, won the championship and the first place purse yesterday. Joe Hiestand, Hillsboro, O., had 67, good for a third place with several others.

KELTNER ON WAY HOME

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 14 —Ken Keltner, third baseman for the Cleveland Indians until he entered the Navy last year, expects to be discharged soon and may rejoin the club in two weeks, his wife reported today. She said he was on his way home from the Pacific.

Regional Cage Tournament Battles Set To Start Tonight

Youngstown and Bowling Green Meets First To Open; Others Begin Friday.

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next to last act of the 1946 Ohio gym jamboree — otherwise known as the state high school basketball tournament—opens tonight at Youngstown and Bowling Green.

When the final gun fires four teams will move to the sidelines to join more than 1,100 others which started the battle a month ago for the Class A and Class B state hardwood championships.

That will leave 12 still in the running for the Class B title and 16 still hopeful for the Class A title which Bellevue already has relinquished.

All four games tonight will be in the Class B division.

One of three undefeated teams in Class B will swing into action tonight. Waynesburg, which has won 24 ball games in a row, takes on North Canton at Youngstown. North Canton has won 21 of 27.

In the other game at Youngstown, the 1944 state champion, Akron Ellet, meets Adena. Ellet has won 16 of 20 and Adena has copped 19 of 25.

Adena, however, has one of the most unusual records in tournament history. It has allowed its tourney foes an average of 56 points a game but still is in the running for the title. Its offensive average is 68 points a game, second only to Glenford which has poured in points at the rate of 73 a contest.

At Bowling Green attention will be turned toward Sandusky St. Mary and Farmer.

St. Mary is one of two of the 1945 Class B finalists still in the running. Loser of only one game in 21, the Erie county lads will match field goals with Middlepoint.

Farmer, with 28 victories in 29 games, goes against Gibsonburg. A regional loser last year, Farmer has won 32 of 34 games over two seasons.

The remainder of the Class B teams and Class A squads swing into action tomorrow night. The four survivors in each class will meet in the final tournaments at Springfield and Toledo March 22 and 23.

The new dam will have a greater capacity than ever, although previously it was the biggest hydroelectric dam in Europe.

New construction in this region will also see highway bridges built at Zaporozhe below the dam to relieve the burden of traffic across its top and another at Dneiropetrovsk closeby. This too will be devoted to automobile and truck traffic generally local.

Russians expect that by 1950 their electric power potential generally will be doubled. More stations are to be built to bring this about.

The Soviets have a hard battle to achieve this doubling by 1950. In addition to normal obstacles a big program of education among the workers who man these stations must be carried out.

A surplus of workers does not help. Engineer S. A. Pavlenko said, but sometimes really interferes with work at the power stations. Among other things, we have many electric stations within one and one-half to three times more service personnel for every kilowatt of power than the best stations in America."

America Is Standard

"America! America! America!"—one gets this time and again here as a measure of comparison. As a goal to reach and surpass.

Persons abroad who looked cynical on the Red army's possibilities at the beginning of the war should not repeat the same mistake when reading these plans of the Russian people in construction the same driving force which hurled the German war machine from the USSR and battered its way into Berlin is behind the spirit of these victories in industry.

So much for electricity. What about coal?

To achieve the goal set by Stalin the USSR has already undergone the regearing of its massive coal industry, dividing it into western and eastern sections with hard driving directors at the top of each section. Formerly the coal industry was under the ... ternal or... mor department, but it is now under its own commissariat.

Stalin's goal of an annual output of 500,000,000 tons a year would put Russia on par with the United States.

Expeditions are afoot in many corners of the country exploring the possibilities of new mines—no that the USSR needs them, for with her present mines it is possible to attain the 500,000,000 annual mark it is believed.

One of the best pieces of news in the coal field is the fact that in 1945 miners of the rich Donets basin reached their prewar output in an important section of mines ravaged by the invaders.

Sees Peak Output

With restoration ahead of schedule and new mines being tunneled, N. K. Kartashev, chief of the Rostovugol mining combine predicted that the first quarter of this year would outdistance anything before the war.

How far does Russia have to go to hit Stalin's target? A relatively long way. Her output in 1940, the best year of all, was 168,000,000 tons. Yes, that's a long way until you remember that the Soviets have upped output from 29,000,000 tons in 1913. Reserves are known to be well over a trillion tons. When the big Tungs basin is fully explored and exploited, this trillion may be two trillion.

Oil Seems Everywhere

Before the war the Soviet Union was second in world production and consumption of oil, with reserves of upwards of 3,500,000,000 tons.

Oil would seem to be everywhere in vast Russia. Heavy greasy films cover many lakes in the north and peasants have to make no more effort than to dip a dish cloth in it and wring it out.

New refineries spring up. The Soviet Union purchased equipment for five refineries from the United States during the war. Two of these were completed in a single year, one in the second year and the other two are almost finished.

The latest refinery to start production is at Krasnovodsk on the eastern shore of the Caspian in the Turkman republic.

New refineries are going up in Kazakhstan to supplement those already pumping oil into factories in Ural Siberia.

Baku still is Russia's richest oilfield, however, and construction always seems underway there.

The USSR has natural gas to burn. It is playing an ever more important role in the country's life. The biggest single piece of construction in this field is a 528-mile long pipe line bringing natural gas from Saratov, on the lower Volga to Moscow. It is big enough to supply the capital with 1,350,000 cubic gas plants.

Russians of course are not ignoring the possibilities of atomic energy in their fuel blueprint for the future. On last Oct. 8 Izvestia had this to say: "During the next five years fuel energy questions must be basically reexamined. Leaving aside the question of utilization of atomic energy, which became a real question from the moment of the atomic bomb and which promises technical revolution in the field of power, one may give incomparably more modest but practical consideration of problems facing us."

Specialized teeth or fangs were evolved at least 15 to 20 million years ago in snakes and today they are most highly perfected in some of the vipers and pitvipers.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Our town has a Housing Shortage

Yes, sir, there's a real housing shortage in our town, as I guess there is in yours, too.

Keefer Cole, for instance, is sharing his home with a brother-in-law from Connecticut. Six children and a dog in one family; four children and three cats in the other.

I asked Keefer how they got along together—especially the grown-ups. Didn't they get a little edgy from the noise and crowding?

Keefer looks at me with a twinkle. "Sure," he says. "And when that happens, Sara and I just pass around four sparkling glasses of good beer ... and that reminds everybody that there are still a lot of friendly, gracious pleasures that can help us make the best of things."

From where I sit, it's great to be able to relax during this strain of postwar living with a beverage that's truly moderate and wholesome, truly friendly.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THE telephone was ringing as I closed the door upon Olga and I went rapidly to it and took down the receiver, hearing, as I expected, the voice of my young son Junior

Hiya Mums*" he queried then added from the safe anonymity of a coin telephone "Is it safe for us to come back?"

'Come up at once,' I told him, and put down the receiver before he could add any more persiflage

I spent the next few minutes in seeing to it that the apartment was in order, and when the boys came in motioned them to be quiet while I went to the telephone and called the package room

'Chester?' I said when he answered and at his affirmative Yes Mrs. Graham,' I asked quickly

'Will it be possible for you to bring up those empty suitcases now?"

Yes they're all emptied," he said

Then I would like you to bring them back, I said I will not be here, but the boys will attend to everything Please bring, also, some labels to paste on the boxes you are sending out The boys will make them out and then you can send the boxes at your convenience There is no hurry '

'Very well,' he said 'I will be up in less than five minutes

"Thank you ' I replied and then, putting the receiver back on its hook turned to the boys

"This is the safest time for those suitcases to come back here ' I told them 'Noel and Mary, in all probability, are in their own apartment Aunt Katherine and Uncle Jack still have Faith and your father, Junior, is entertaining his mother

In other words" Roderick said with engaging impudence, everything under control

'For the time being, yes I said 'Now here are the things I want you to do '

They snapped to ludicrous attention bodies erect heads thrown back, hands to their foreheads in salute

'Aye aye, Captain" they chorused

Getting Signals Mixed

'You're getting your signals mixed I told them, 'but I haven't time to straighten you out Now, when Chester comes up put your suitcases at once in your closet where you have been used to keeping them Then nobody will ever guess they've been out there

'Second,' I went on hurriedly for I wanted no delaying interruption, he will bring you some labels for those boxes he is going to send out. Address them to Jim at the farm Then there will be no danger of Faith or your grandmother seeing them

'Suppose he asks you before Faith or Granzie what they are? Roderick suggested

In all probability ' I said We'll be out there long before the boxes are '

They flinched a bit and I knew how much they regretted the cutting short of their holiday

I'm sorry,' I told them but we've stayed in now longer than we thought we would '

Don't you ever think we're kicking Junior said valiantly We've had a swell time and we're ready to go back any time When do you think it will be Mums" Tonight?'

Best Guess

"That is my best guess I told them So I want you to be all packed and ready to go say by five o'clock this afternoon although we may not start until long after that hour

'I can't let you make any plans for a movie this afternoon although I do not care what you do between now and two o'clock when we are going to Aunt Olga's apartment for luncheon and from the time you leave the luncheon until five o clock I have only three stipulations You must have your suitcases and everything packed you must put on your very best clothes for the luncheon which is going to be very special and you must change again to traveling clothes packing the others after the luncheon '

Gee!' Junior commented Sounds like an engagement or a wedding or an anniversary party

TRAINING SCHOOL READY BY APRIL 1

Standard Oil Co. To Hold Course for Employes.

Standard Oil company's Sohio training school building at Center and Leader streets should be ready for classes about April 1, C M Gorby, training supervisor, predicted today.

Construction work on the building which will include a laboratory and class rooms, is progressing rapidly, Mr. Gorby said Officials had feared the shortage of materials would hold up construction of the school, but materials are now available for its completion Concrete for the foundation was poured Wednesday and during the next two weeks the building should be erected and equipment installed

First classes at the school will include 14 service station managers from the district. One class will be given instruction in driveway and service sales and the other instruction in lubrication and service sales An expected 100 station attendants will complete the two week course Purpose of the course is to make station managers and attendants more efficient in their jobs

Progressive Grange Discusses New Hall

When Progressive Grange met Tuesday night in the Grange hall, a discussion was held on the location for a new grange hall Nothing definite was decided The program, which was in charge of Miss Alice Price, lecturer, consisted of a discussion of farm problems Arthur Smith, county agricultural agent and also a member of the grange, conducted a question and answer session on the same subject.

Two candidates for membership were accepted A meeting for officers of the Grange will be held Tuesday night, March 19, at 8:30 o'clock to make arrangements for degree work to be put on at Claridon school March 27, when new members will be admitted

"How much you give?" he asked.

"Look Abdullah," I told him, "I don t need a riding crop because I don t own a horse I don t want a swagger stick because I am too tired to swagger Besides my import export balance is already unbalanced and in the first place I don't want to buy anything anyway."

"You mean you don't want?" said Abdullah in utter disbelief as if this had never happened to him before Then he leered over at me and asked "You like pretty girls?"

"Abdullah " I answered suspiciously, "who doesn t?"

Abdullah reached deep into his striped kimono and pulled out a small jar which he surreptitiously handed over to me after a well staged glance around as if to see no police were looking

"How much you give?" he said "Very good very good Many Yank soldiers buy this from Abdullah "

The box contained "Elixir of Youth, which modestly proclaimed itself to be a veritable open sesame to elderly people who would for a time reenter the portals of the realm of youth."

"Now Abdullah really," I said, handing back the box "do I look like I need an elixir of youth?"

Abdullah shrugged noncommittally He reached deep into his bathrobe and began pulling out more wares.

First he tried to sell me some "feelthy pictures" which looked suspiciously like old photos of keystone comedy girls in bathing suits and would easily have been passed even by Boston censors. Next came shoelaces, razor blades, scenic views of the Nile river, blackjacks bottles of synthetic perfume and some synthetic scarabs.

My resistance cracked when he hauled out several horsetail fly swatters He said that even if there weren t many flies I could use the swatter to "brush beggars away "

I finally bought one for 25 piastres—one dollar—after he came down from 60 palstres. An Egyptian friend later told me it was well worth ten plastres

You want to buy something else?" asked Abdullah. "I find you anything

Red Rash

DOWN through the years since Russian revolutionists organized the Communist International, or Comintern, to promote worldwide revolution, as much mischief has been done by suspicion of its activities as by the activities themselves.

The suspicion is flaring up again. It was included in the report to the senate this week by its relations committee, Senator Connally of Texas, who has just returned from London as a delegate to the first meeting of the United Nations Assembly. Russia, he said, has a right to any kind of government it wants, but its rights "do not extend beyond her boundaries."

Winston Churchill also has voiced it in references to misgivings about Russia's "proselytizing." It is one of the principal handicaps to cooperative security. Obviously, as long as a considerable number of non-Russians suspect that their political security, not to mention their economic security, is being attacked as part of an international plan to establish a class dictatorship, there can be no genuine cooperation. A thorough airing of the Communist issue is long overdue.

The Russian Communists themselves recognized this handicap to cooperation in May 1943, when the Comintern, created in 1919, was formally disbanded by its own executive committee. This wartime decision, intended to reassure Russia's allies, did not prove to be reassuring, however. There is still a suspicion that Communists in other countries represent more than their local followers.

Now, while an attempt is going forward to put Russo-American relations on a realistic basis for the postwar years, the suspicion about Communists in our own country needs to be brought into the open and either disposed of or confirmed.

It so happens that in negotiations leading up to our government's recognition of the Soviet Union in November 1933, heavy stress was laid on Russia's pledge to abstain from "proselytizing" in this country.

Relations were established by an exchange of letters between President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov, then Soviet commisar of foreign affairs. The text of these letters made it plain that noninterference was the sine qua non of recognition. It has been so long since the matter was given the attention it received then that the text of M. Litvinov's letter dealing specifically with the problem is interesting to reread:

"MY dear Mr. President: I have the honor to inform you that coincident with the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two governments it will be the fixed policy of the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics——

"1. To respect scrupulously the indisputable rights of the United States to order its own life within its own jurisdiction in its own way and to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United States. . .

"2. To refrain, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from any act overt or covert liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order or security of the whole or any part of the United States. . . and in particularly from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention, or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim the violation of the United States. . . or the bringing about by force or a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States. . ."

These were strong guarantees. Yet it was not until 1943 that the Comintern was disbanded. For 10 years before that, suspicion of Russian connection with Communists in the United States had been kept alive by evidence that this country's occasional attacks of red rash were not wholly of local origin.

Elsewhere in his letter, M. Litvinov pledged his government: "Not to permit the formation or residence on its territory of any organization or group—and to prevent the activity on its territory of any organization or group—which has as an aim the overthrow or the preparation for the overthrow of, or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

The state department should make an official report on the first 13 years of relations with the Soviet Union. If its pledge made in 1933 has been kept, if American Communists are on their own, having no connection whatever with the Russian government or the Communist party in Russia, and if Russia desires friendly relations with the United States, it should do what is long overdue. It should issue a plain statement that it renounces the activities in this country of all persons handicapping Russo-American relations by seeming to break the Soviet Union's pledge of 1933 not to interfere in any way in the internal affairs of the United States.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Byrnes Stand Brings New Propaganda.

WASHINGTON, March 14—Now that the Truman - Byrnes leadership has decided to take a stand for our way of life around the world, a new type of propaganda is beginning to appear in the news. Quotations from the Chicago Round Table talk of our atom scientists last Sunday showed they expressed such views as.... "The United States is waving its fists"...."It is tragic that this nation has the atom bomb"..."There should be no secrets in the hands of the military."

These present a completely erroneous, unreasonable and absurd distortion of the facts of the situation. Have you seen anyone in this entire nation waving any fists, much less our government? No one wants war, no one is advocating it directly or indirectly. A strong diplomatic game is being played for our way of life, and such extreme distortions of it as to call it "fist waving" work our people into false beliefs.

It is fully as unreasonable to assume that it is "tragic" that we, a peace-loving nation advocating freedom of individuals and all nations, have control of the bomb. We should thank God we have it instead of aggressive nations with their freedom.

Secrets In Russia

Russia, which the scientists had in mind, not only has military secrets, but civil, political and every other kind of secret, behind her complete censorship. The scientists never advocated that she drop her isolationism and open up to armament inspection, as UNO provides. In the face of the adamant Russian position, these scientists make a feeble assault upon average intelligence to say we should disclose our secrets.

Then, simultaneously, a reputable New York gossip columnist professes to present Stalin's thoughts, which are completely censored from all the rest of the world including our diplomats. He reports: "Stalin's top advisers are discussing quitting the UNO"... and "Stalin's belief is that militarists here are deliberately building up a case against Russia to get continuance of the draft and other wartime powers."

There should be a law against gossip columnists writing on international or diplomatic subjects, because they are the easiest of all dupes for foreign propaganda, and are so often used (innocently I may assume in most instances) in diplomatic cat and mouse games to scare and deceive our people.

They should know Russia has the draft of teen-agers for compulsory military training already in effect, but they neglect to mention this. Furthermore, Pravda, the official Russian mouthpiece, said upon the very same day the first strong kind words about UNO that I have heard of being circulated within isolated Russia.

Change In Russia

Up to this, Moscow has been reluctant and suspicious of UNO, bein lured into it only by Mr. Roosevelt going repeatedly to see Stalin and by being urged into San Francisco arrangement. Thereafter she sent only a second-rate man to its first meeting in London.

So any reasonable person must be led to the conclusion the new, stronger Truman-Byrnes stand for the co-operative way of doing things is making inroads in Russia, bringing her now to defense of the UNO she has refrained from entering wholeheartedly.

And can any thoughtful person think our government, our people or even our military is "militaristic?" It is not militaristic politically, as are the armies of totalitarian nations. It is demobilizing. It is not invading anyone. Its whole military theory is defense, not aggression. Is there any reasonable man anywhere who really can believe this line of Russian propaganda, as presented by Pravda directly and indirectly in various ways by some of our own thoughtless people?

The power, in our way of life, rests upon the thoughts of our people. We are involved in a sharp diplomatic game which is not of our making. If our people are misled into accepting erroneous and misleading news and opinions, our power for good is weakened. Our national influence for good declines to whatever extent our people accept these conclusions, and it will fall completely if our people accept them fully.

We do not need censorship. That is the unreasonable, undemocratic way. But we do require that the people get the facts in the face of plain attempts to influence their judgment and corrupt their free minds.

BEWARE OF THE IDES OF INTERNAL REVENUE DEPT.

Tomorrow's the day a lot of folks who thought the war was over are going to find out differently.

The shooting's over. But the surtax lingers on.

Twice now, we've made the world safe for democracy—both times on the installment plan.

By midnight tomorrow, millions will have learned to their sorrow that pay-as-you-go didn't go far enough.

It's true, of course, that the treasury has simplified the tax form. Now all you have to do is figure out how much you have left and send it in.

Form 1040 is Jesse James reduced to a table. Internal Revenue Bureau officials have invented what military experts considered impossible: A paper bobby-trap.

Considering the size of the nation's continuing tax burden, it seems to me the quickest way to a permanent pace is to sell armaments only C.O.D.

Big 3 Contacts Badly Needed

By Walter Lippmann

THE news, unhappily, is no longer better. All the signs indicate that there is in the making a very great crisis in the Middle East and it is plain that at this time, when it may still be possible to avert and resolve the crisis by diplomacy, there is no effective diplomatic contact between Moscow and Washington.

This is exceedingly serious. For if true negotiation cannot quickly be resumed, there is the greatest danger that a situation will be created which can never again be dealt with by negotiation.

That we are not in diplomatic contact with Moscow is shown by the fact that we have made a public and peremptory inquiry as to whether, and if so why, the Red Army, with offensive armament, is moving through Iran in the direction of Turkey and Iraq.

Our query is based on reports received at the state department. In normal diplomatic relations the first step would have been to check these reports by instructing the American embassy to discuss them with the foreign office in Moscow, and to discuss them simultaneously in Washington with the Soviet ambassador.

Absent Ambassador

Perhaps this has been done. But the fact is that we have no ambassador in Moscow, and the Soviets have no ambassador in Washington. Averell Harriman has come home, and Gen. Bedell Smith is still here. Ambassador Gromyko has not been in Washington for a long time. There is no one in either capital through whom the heads of state and their foreign ministers can consult and negotiate directly and continually.

We have all been reduced, therefore, to writing notes at long range and to making speeches and issuing public statements. That is not nearly enough in so delicate and dangerous a situation. For with all due respect to the ideal of open diplomacy, the practical effect of exchanging public statements is to close down on the chances of successful negotiation.

The fact of the matter is that since the death of President Roosevelt, there has been only spasmodic diplomatic contact between the two governments. Except during the brief and much too hurried visits to Moscow of Harry Hopkins last spring and by Secretary Byrnes in December, Soviet-American relations have been at arms length, not directly and firmly in the hands of the men who alone can determine the issues.

Never before after a great war have the leading men of the leading powers thought they could make peace at a distance, by occasional and breatheless interviews or through minor officials.

In the meantime the situation in the Middle East is developing on an ominous timetable. There is every indication, and none that I know of to the contrary, that the Soviet Union is mounting a diplomatic offensive for this spring which has as its objective to take the Balkans, Turkey, Iran, Iraq—the whole region from Trieste to the Persian Gulf—out of the British sphere of influence and to absorb it into the Soviet sphere.

Russian Pattern

Russian actions are coordinated and cumulative, and they form a pattern of which the general design is well nigh unmistakable. In fact the answer to Mr. Churchill written for Izvesti by the distinguished historian, Eugene Tarle, must be read as an avowal that this is the Soviet plan.

I said that the timetable is ominous. That is because there is a general expectation that the major crisis in India cannot now be averted, and that it cannot be postponed by as much as 60 days. The Indian political problem is about to come to a head just when the Indian famine will be at its cruelest and worst. There is every reason to fear that the crisis around Turkey may be precipitated to coincide with the crisis in India.

I hope I am wrong. But it would be the height of imprudence for this country to underestimate the strains and stresses to which the British power is likely to be subjected in the near future. The question for us is how we can bring about a diplomatic, and avert a military, solution in the Middle East.

Mr. Churchill has tried to answer the question by telling us that if we combine our military power with Great Britain, the Soviet Union will pause because it respects superior force. Is he right in thinking that we do in fact have superior force in the Middle East where the Red Army is moving, or at least that our potential superiority is such that it can be exerted now as a deterrent?

Consequence

If by any chance he is wrong, the most serious immediate consequence of following his advice would be that he would have foreclosed the possibility of dealing directly and independently, but of course in the interests of a general peace, with Moscow. Every constructive move we might wish to attempt would be discounted as a measure to coerce the Soviet Union.

We ought to pass the British loan, and do it quickly. We ought to make a French loan. We ought to bring about a settlement of the Ruhr. We ought to make a prompt peace, apart from the colonies, with Italy. We ought to enact universal military training. We ought to reconstitute our Mediterranean and European fleets. We ought to bring forward a great project for the economic development of the Middle East.

But if we do any of these necessary, desirable, and inherently constructive things inside an alliance which is avowedly anti-Soviet, they will surely accentuate the antagonism of Moscow, far more than they reinforce our own influence for a peaceable settlement.

Yet we must do all these things. But to do them now, and have any hope of getting good results from any of them, we shall have to do something else. The President will have to make a move to establish direct contact with Stalin.

After the spectacular but no doubt unintended effects of his presence at Churchill's speech, it is most necessary to make a very special effort to see that real diplomatic contact is not broken. The impending crisis is much too serious, the stake of this country much too great, to take the awful risk of lacking the means to negotiate.

The word mausoleum derives from King Mausolus to whom a monument was erected after his death by his wife, Queen Artemisia, in 353 B.C.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, March 14, 1936.

A flaming meteor so near the earth that it rattled windows and awakened many persons shot across the sky over central New Jersey in the early morning hours.

A heart attack following a severe cold caused the death of Mrs. Catherine Gorentlo, 77, at her home at 634 Silver street.

A. H. Harris of 419 East Church street was elected president of Province Delta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, college social fraternity, at a biennial province convention in Indianapolis, Ind.

Fifty-eight candidates had filed for district and county offices in the primary as the deadline was reached. With two exceptions both the Republican and Democratic parties had full tickets.

Members of the Pleasant Township Old-Fashioned Singing school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ansley of South Grand avenue for a potluck supper and to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Ansley.

Mrs. J. F. Corbin of Canton was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Smith of South High street.

Anglo-American Oil Pact

By Raymond Moley

ALF M. LANDON has a right to speak with great authority on problems involving oil. He led the fight in Kansas for the first petroleum conservation legislation. He was the only state governor to attend President Roosevelt's 1933 conference on oil conservation. After the attempt to set up federal conservation legislation failed, Landon's state, Kansas, was the first to ratify the compact drawn up for the oil states. And, it may be added, Mr. Landon is a successful oil man in his own right.

Speaking on Tuesday before the Kansas Oil Associatoin, he read a good lesson for all of us on the Anglo-American petroleum agreement, now before the senate for ratification. This agreement, it should be noted, will have status as a treaty. As such, it will take precedence over all state and federal laws and regulations. Also, this Anglo-American agreement will be followed by a multilateral international agreement, the outlines of which are in the Anglo-American Agreement.

Wide Control Possible

Mr. Landon points out that, due to the loose wording of the measure before the senate, there is ample reason to believe that "every facility of the worldwide petroleum industry will be brought within the provisions of the agreement." This, Mr. Landon asserts, leaves open the possibility of price fixing by an international body.

To sustain his argument, Mr. Landon points to the following language of the treaty-agreement:

"That the exploration for and development of petroleum resources, the construction and operation of refineries and other facilities, and the distribution of petroleum, shall not be hampered by restrictions inconsistent with the purposes of this agreement."

Mr. Landon's warning is well taken. It may well be that the oil resources of the world are largely the cause of much of the present friction between Britain and Russia. Certainly, it is the belief of Britain that if oil can be brought under some three-party agreement, the way to peace will be cleared. Foreign Secretary Bevin said in parliament ten days ago, "I would be quite willing if the Soviet would join Britain and America in an international oil agreement which would solve this conflict for oil as between great allies."

Eliminate Friction

This is an extremely hopeful means of eliminating friction, and no one can deny the desirability of some international means of limiting the reaches of the big powers, while permitting nations with no oil of their own to get what they need in a fair market.

But to build international agreements on vague and ambiguous language is to court trouble and to permit a government in Washington or an international board to reach unnecessarily into the domestic affairs of this country.

The fact is that all nations are now able to produce oil freely in the United States. We have an "open door." We ought to insist on an open door everywhere. The rights of American producers should be guarded in British and in Russian territory, if all nations are to agree on this vital issue. It would, Mr. Landon suggests, be well to settle this whole oil question before money loans or gifts are made to any country. But the senate should clear the ambiguity from this present agreement.

Far North Warm Spot

Although Hammerfest, Norway, is farther north than any other town in Europe, its harbor is ice-free all year around, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Because of warm westerly winds and the North Atlantic drift originating in the Gulf of Mexico, the average January temperature in Hammerfest is only a little below freezing.

Modern Picture

Longfellow's picture of the village smithy and observations of smiths in action have probably given many of us a pretty definite impression of the forge, the bellows, and the glowing coals. The modern blacksmith's forge is motor driven and burns light fuel oil.—O.S.U. Science and Appliance.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The First Robin

WE heard today that the first robin reached Washington, D. C. The report read "It can be stated on what is accepted here in the capital as unimpeachable authority that the first robin has arrived. No spokesman of either party was willing, however, to come out over his own name and say so."

We sought confirmation at once, with the following results:

Washington (A.P.)—While there is no reason to believe the first robin has arrived, administration leaders were reticent today. No cabinet officer wished to commit himself and leaders in both the house and senate dismissed queries with the statement that they had nothing to say at this time.

Washington (U.P.)—President Truman has not yet confirmed or denied the arrival of the first robin. He confined himself at first to the brief statement, "You may say I think first robins are a good thing."

Later at his press conference when the question was put to him bluntly "Has the first robin arrived?" he seemed nettled and replied, "It will come out in good time. The first robin went through weeks ago and I saw nothing in the press about it. If the newspapers would give as much space to bluebirds as it does to robins it would be better for America."

This didn't seem very informative so we wired our special Washington correspondent who said:

"Administration leaders are holding to their 1946 first robin policy. Members of the house and senate also refuse to commit pending a regrouping of their lines. It is felt that the first robin could be brought through by a bi-partisan coalition. A few notes may swing the robin either way."

We wired for more and got:

"The whole question of whether or not the first robin has been seen here and elsewhere points north remains a matter of conjecture. A growing group in the senate feels that the whole question of spring harbingers is outside its jurisdiction. Some leaders are suggesting the creation of FMBCC (Federal Migratory Bird Control Commission) with a starting appropriation of $8,000,000,000. "It would mean economy," said Senator Creeps "as it could only handle first bobolinks."

Later this came through:

"Chester Bowles, asked if he had seen the first robin declared warmly, "This whole robin issue is raised by the Chambers of Commerce, the dry goods lobby, the real estate lobby and the vested interests who want an early spring. It means ruin."

Ed Pauley was quite frank. "I don't believe the bird will ever make it," he said. "But he's got a better chance than I had. Ickes is out."

President Truman spent another week-end on his yacht and we understand that he insists that she make 18½ knots, operate in a minimum of 18½ feet of water and have a crew of 18½ men.

Also that the President has changed the ship's clock so that it rings 18½ bells every four hours.

Pettigrew the Penguin writes, "say, I went to see the lost week-end and have never bored ever since do you suppose it could be because as a chaser I saw the spiral stairs and Ilsien boss can you get me a pass for the toga drunk.

Anything for a Laugh

By Truman Twill

This is an earnest protest against debasement of human beings on a national hookup. It's one thing when a man or woman acts like a monkey which is an inalienable right; but radio's discovery that people can be bribed to make fools of themselves from coast to coast is a dangerous thing and needs to be discouraged.

All that radio has discovered, when you come to think about it, is that every human being has his price. People will do anything for money. The shrewd boys of the air waves have taken the horseplay of the pool rooms into broadcasting studios and raised the ante, that's all.

What once was supposed to be funny when the town halfwit was bribed to swallow a can of chewing tobacco for a dollar by a gang of loafers who wondered what would happen now is offered as amusement for the nation. The radio sucker gets $500 and a cake of soap for making a fool of himself in front of millions, but the net impression is the same.

Those who are capable of judgment are shocked and saddened by a demonstration that people's dignity is conspicuous by its absence as often as by its presence. Others are merely amused, or what is worse, left drooling over the prospect of picking up some easy money themselves by doing the same thing if they get a chance.

It reminds us of the zoology laboratory years ago when a wag offered a dimwit five cents if he would swallow a pickled worm that was the subject for dissention—and the dimwit made a bargain. Down went the worm and up went the dimwit's standing as a human being. Henceforth, he was known to one and all as Wormy and suitably shunned.

Adults can take this stuff for what it is worth—the necessity of radio's pitch-men to draw a crowd so they can sell their junk by putting the suckers into a mellow mood. But it is something else for the kids to be bombarded with the impression it is smart to be a fool if the price is high enough.

Radio, being nationwide, can bring so much money to bear on the individual that the prize is bound to be high—for the biggest fool. The also-rans get nothing but a cake of soap, a candy bar, or maybe some cigarets.

It's useless to protest, but unless someone does protest we hate to think what radio jokesmiths may think up next. Those poolroom loafers used to try out some dandies on the town halfwit.

Everyday Bell Legalized

Sterling, Ill., recently found it necessary for its city council to adopt a special ordinance amendment before the $2,100 First Methodist Church carillon could sound forth on weekdays as well as Sundays. The law, aimed at loud-speaker advertising and other community noises, had at first made no legal leeway for the chimes.

Apple That's Ugly and Scarce Leads in Health Vitamin

ITHACA, N. Y.—Efforts of agricultural scientists to introduce more Vitamin C into the human diet have extended to research with an old European variety of apples.

Food chemists at the New York State Experiment station at nearby Geneva, operated by Cornell University, have discovered that the Calville Blanc apple, a variety of European origin, contains about as much Vitamin C, or ascorbic acid, as citrus fruits. The acid vitamin is a health preserving agent found in many fresh foods.

A single tree in the orchard at Geneva is the only known specimen of this variety in the United States. Propagation has begun, but it will be two or three years before any stock will be available.

The Calville Blanc apple, which was introduced to the U. S. Pacific coast over 25 years ago, probably never will be popular in its present form even though high in Vitamin C content. It is unattractive and poor in eating quality by present standards, and few people would enjoy munching such an apple—Vitamin C notwithstanding.

But the food chemists point out that the Calville Blanc does have considerable value as a variety for use in breeding. It is hoped by these scientists that sometime an apple will be developed both rich in Vitamin C and pleasing to the eye and palate as well.

On an average, say the experts, the Calville Blanc contains 37 milligrams of Vitamin C in each 100 grams of fruit. This means that a five-ounce Calville Blanc apple will supply about three-fourths of the daily allowance of Vitamin C for an adult as prescribed by the National Research Council.

Then Suddenly It's Spring, but Not All at Same Time

By NATHAN OATIS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, March 14.—Spring will be a little late this year in the eastern part of the United States.

In most of the country, it will come around on March 20, but in the eastern standard time zone that will be the day before spring.

Of course, it might as well be spring—the season is just around the corner. It will be along on March 21.

In fact, they'll tell you up at Hayden Planetarium, spring busts out all over at the same time. It's just the clocks that read differently from place to place, explains Associate Curator Robert R. Coles.

Spring comes when the sun is at the vernal equinox—standing over the equator on its way north. When this happens, it's March 20 in most of the United States—9:33 p. m. in San Francisco, 10:33 in Denver and 11:33 in Chicago—but it's March 21 at 12:33 a. m. in the east.

The season arrives first, by local time, just east of the international date line, which plays around with the 180th meridian in mid-Pacific. It will be spring at 6:33 p. m. March 20 on Midway.

In the southern hemisphere, it isn't the spring that comes with the vernal equinox—it's the fall. This will happen in Buenos Aires at 1:33 a. m. March 21.

An equinox—from Latin for "equal night"—is called so because nights and days then are theoretically of the same length, but for technical reasons, Coles says, this is never quite so.

In New York, for example, sunrise, when the sun first cuts the horizon, on March 21 will be at 6:01 a. m. and sunset at 6:07 p. m.

"Of course," adds Coles, "that is for the true horizon—which nobody ever sees in New York."

Muscles Are Key to Legislative Jam

By The Associated Press

TRENTON, N. J.—Closed door conferences are the order of the day in Trenton when the legislature convenes, but they can become too confining when the key won't work and the conferees are trapped for four hours, said Republican State Chairman Lloyd B. Marsh.

It took four stalwarts summoned by cries of help to smash the door and free Marsh and Senate Majority Leader Charles K. Barton after a recent conference when the door key jammed and nothing would jar it loose.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Liver Damage

It is only in recent times that many of the facts concerning inflammation of the liver or hepatitis have been collected. Now it is known that certain infections, as well as various drugs, may cause liver damage.

In a group of 63 patients studied by Dr. Nathan W. Chaikin and Dr. Simeon O. Chlenoff of New York City, the most common causes of the liver inflammation were infections, drugs, such as arsenic, and various general diseases, such as pneumonia. More than one-half of the patients developed the condition because of infection and the majority of them were over twenty years of age.

While the exact cause of liver inflammation is not known, it would appear that it is due to a virus, that is, an organism so small that it can pass through the openings in a porcelain filter. The patients who developed the condition as a result of drugs had received such preparations as sulfathiazole and sulfadiazine. It is thought that these drugs may have direct damaging action in the liver cells. Because of this fact it may be inadvisable to use sulfonamide drugs for infections which develop during the course of chronic liver disease.

In a number of the cases the acute inflammation of the liver or hepatitis followed the use of arsenic-containing drugs. Other conditions which produced hepatitis were pneumonia and syphilis.

It appears that no matter what may cause hepatitis, the symptoms are about the same. There may be pains in the abdomen, loss of appetite, vomiting and diarrhea. In a few instances the condition may begin with symptoms like those of a cold. Fever is present in some instances. About three to five days following the onset of the condition, jaundice or a greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin as well as the mucous membranes, especially the white portion of the eyes, may occur.

This may last from seven to twenty-six days. The disorder is diagnosed on the basis of the symptoms and various laboratory tests are made to determine how the liver is functioning. In children it would appear that this condition as a rule, runs a rather mild course. In adults it may be more serious.

There is no specific treatment for the infection which produces hepatitis, insofar as is known at present. Complete rest in bed, the use of the proper diet and the giving of plenty of fluids are all helpful measures. The diet should contain an abundance of sugars, and proteins such as meat and milk.

A great deal further study is needed to determine the exact way in which the infectious form of liver inflammation spreads and to develop preventive measures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E.K.: Is it possible to permanently raise a prolapsed transverse colon by electrical or manual manipulation, or both, or by operation?

Answer: It is not likely that manipulation would restore a colon to its normal position. An operation might be performed for this condition. However, a gain in weight and strengthening of the abdominal muscles by exercise may be all that is necessary.

G.M.: How can one get from foods the proper iodine requirements necessary for good health?

Answer: Sea foods, such as oysters, salmon, and sardines, contain the most iodine. It is also found in butter and milk. Most vegetables, especially those grown in land near the sea, contain iodine in small quantity. The use of iodine salt will also aid in supplying a sufficient quantity of iodine.

D. A. W.: Is it harmful to use suppositories in stubborn cases of constipation?

Answer: The frequent use of suppositories may be habit-forming. However, properly employed, they may be helpful in overcoming constipation until the proper bowel habits are formed with diet, exercise and the drinking of plenty of fluids.

B. H.: Just what is rheumatic heart disease? The young man who has it is twenty-eight years old.

Answer: There is a disorder known as rheumatic fever, which frequently does damage to the heart. Rheumatic fever is probably due to infection with a virus, which is an organism so small that it can pass through a tiny opening in a filter. With proper care, it may be possible to ward off future damage to the heart.

(No shortening and only ¼ cup sugar)

If you'd like to try something brand new in muffins that's truly delicious and saves on shortening, too — try Kellogg's new Peanut Butter Muffins. You'll love their flavor. You'll love, too, the tender, melt-in-your-mouth texture of bran muffins made with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. For ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.

¼ cup peanut butter
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
¾ cup Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Blend peanut butter and sugar thoroughly; stir in egg, milk and Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 10 tender, tasty muffins.

Good Nutrition, too! ALL-BRAN is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over ¼ your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

KNOW YOUR VITAMINS!

YOU NEED THEM ALL. EVERYONE IS NECESSARY TO A HEALTHY LIFE. HERE ARE A FEW POINTS OF INTEREST ABOUT EACH:

VITAMIN A
Helps build resistance to infection by building healthy tissues—especially in the nose and throat. Helps guard against colds. Very essential to growth—especially in children. Tends to increase appetite, improve digestion. Helps keep skin healthier, more able to resist irritation and infection.

VITAMIN B
(Or B1) has its chief effect on the nerve tissues. Deficiency of Vitamin B may result in general weakness and nervousness, poor appetite, or tend to disturb your digestion.

VITAMIN C
Helps give you sturdier bones and stronger teeth. Aids in keeping blood vessels healthier. Serious lack may cause a condition of anemia, and lesser deficiency may mean defective teeth, lowered resistance, general weakness or restlessnss.

VITAMIN D
The "sunshine Vitamin"—helps maintain the proper level of calcium in the blood. Adequate amounts of Vitamin D are essential for developing and maintaining sound teeth and bone structure. Adequate amounts also prevent rickets in babies.

VITAMIN G
(Or B2). Serious lack causes pellagra, but lesser deficiency tends to upset your digestion, your nerves and your skin.

Parking Meters at Courthouse and Banks Do Best Business

The five parking meters on North Main street opposite the courthouse are the most popular meters in the city, Elmer Shaw, city auditor, said today.

Very few users of these meters take their full nickel's worth of parking, he said; normally several cars will use one of these meters in the hour's time a nickel pays for. The majority of users of these meters are people using the banks on the opposite corners or obtaining state sales tax stamps at the county court house, he believes.

Other highly used areas are the one hour zones on North Main and West Center streets, and second to these are the one hour zones on South Main and East Center streets. The two hour zones income runs about the same in all areas, according to Mr. Shaw. The meters do their biggest business from about 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and in the early afternoon.

Any meter on a corner or next to an alley gets plenty of users also, since such spaces are easier for motorists to park in.

The main purpose of the meters is to regulate parking, rather than to take in revenue for the city, Mr. Shaw said. The first meters, 103 of the one hour type, were installed in Marion in 1940. In 1942 the remainder of the one hour meters and all of the two hour meters were installed.

65-Cent Wage Bill Faces Senate Fight

WASHINGTON, March 14—The 65-cent minimum wage bill comes up in the senate today with the administration apparently over a farm bloc barrel.

President Truman has put out the word that he wants the measure, which would boost the minimum hourly pay of workers covered by the federal wage-hour law from 40 cents to 65 cents immediately and to 75 cents after four years.

But the bill has run into strong opposition among farm state Democrats as well as among Republicans.

Some farm state senators were making gestures of going along with the administration, but their demand was: an amendment to increase farm prices.

PAULEY SHOWS PRESIDENT'S LETTER. Edwin W. Pauley (seated) shows a letter he received from President Truman to his brother, Harold R. Pauley, of Los Angeles in Washington. Truman wrote Pauley regarding withdrawal of the latter's nomination to be undersecretary of the Navy. The President withdrew the nomination.

Senator Predicts OPA's Doom in Plan To Nip Cotton Boost

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14—An unprecedented OPA order designed to nip rising cotton clothing prices shaped up today as Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) predicted the action may cost the agency its life.

Meanwhile, the government ordered garment producers to hustle to market their supplies of scarce shirts, suits, trousers, underwear and women's stockings, both nylon and rayon.

And a Civilian Production Administration official reported an agreement which he said will "substantially increase" output of rayon hosiery, now almost as hard to find as nylons.

The OPA order, being prepared at the direction of Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles, will require a bigger down payment on cotton purchased for future delivery. The purpose is to curb speculative bidding for cotton, which Bowles said was encouraged when traders could make purchases with a very small cash deposit.

Bidding Must Stop

This sort of bidding, Bowles said, forces up textile prices and eventually the cost of clothing. And that, he added, has got to stop.

Thomas, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, predicted the Bowles' directive would lead congress members from cotton, wheat and corn states "to pool their efforts to prevent any extension of OPA." Legislation is pending to continue the agency through June, 1947.

Thomas said that obviously Bowles and OPA Administrator Paul Porter "intends to keep the farmer from getting a square deal."

"This order," he told a reporter, "will stop production of a lot of agricultural stuff next year. Farmers will go to town instead and get the high wages the administration is forcing for industrial workers."

The price of raw cotton has risen about four cents a pound since last August. Bowles said that in this situation I have no choice but to employ and exhaust all the legal means at my command" to stabilize prices for the commodity.

He ordered OPA to fix a down payment requirement of $30 a bale on the basis on prevailing prices for cotton. This would increase $10 a bale for every cent or fraction of a cent a pound prices jumped.

The order to garment manufacturers, issued by the Civilian Production Administration, prohibits producers of scarce apparel from keeping on hand more than a 30-day supply.

On the bright side as to rayon hosiery, a CPA official said yarn producers had agreed to supply hosiery producers with about 1,500,000 pounds of fabric a month, starting in April.

This, he said, is considerably more than they have been getting since allocation controls were lifted shortly after the war ended. He added that rayon manufacturers had been channeling most of their production to other apparel in the expectation nylon output would cut demand for rayon stockings.

Speaker Here Calls Salesman Best Friend of Everybody

Ralph Carney Addresses 500 Retail Workers in Meeting at Masonic Temple.

An audience of approximately 500 store managers and retail salespeople heard Ralph W. Carney at a meeting last night in the Masonic Temple, picture the part "the man who sells" can play in the postwar program.

Mr. Carney is vice president and general salesmanager of the Coleman Lamp and Stove Co., Wichita, Kas. and has spoken here on previous occasions.

Seller Is Best Friend

Describing the "seller" as the best friend of everybody, he called on those whose business it is to sell to "think better of yourselves than you do." A salesman, he declared, has as much right to hold his head high—more right than any man living.

He reminded his audience that no war has ever been fought with the weapons of the preceding one, pointing out that the Civil War was fought with small cannon, World War I with machine guns and explosive shells, and a few daring knights like Rickenbacker and World War II with fleets of tremendous bombers, tons of bombs and unbelievable speed. "You can not," he declared, "fight this postwar competitive sales battle with yesterday's sales weapons nor on yesterday's high percentage of sales expense. Your competitors may have a buzz-bomb and a B-29 and you will be helpless, sitting there with a Civil War rifle in your hand." New goods, new materials, new structures and new uses will require new knowledge, new appeals, new effort."

Lists Assets

Mr. Carney listed patience, tact, broad - mindedness, generosity, good nature and a broad field of information as the assets of a successful salesman and said that only by unremitting labor and thought are the answers found to any important human problems. He described as a parasite, a saboteur of the nation's resources and an internal enemy, the person who drains revenue from society without producing something of equivalent value in return. He declared that the happiness and the welfare of the country depends far more upon the salesmen than upon those in political power and closed his talk with the challenge: "Now we have talked enough. Let's get back to work."

The meeting was sponsored by the retail merchants board of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. Cutler McGrew, presided.

Tonight Mr. Carney will be the guest speaker at the annual Foremen's fellowship dinner to be attended by members of the Foremen's club and the Manufacturers Council. The dinner will be at 6:45 at the Masonic temple.

ers sending some increases up to 24 cents an hour.

In an additional statement company officials said:

"Yesterday afternoon at a meeting with the union committee the company made an offer to increase all wage rates 15 cents an hour. It was to be effective as soon as accepted by the union. We were informed this morning that the rate had been accepted.

"Today the company called cleanup and maintenance crews to report this afternoon. We expect to be in full operation Monday morning.

"The settlement resulted from negotiations held every few days over a period of the last four weeks. The agreement also established guaranteed rates for piece workers, as follows:

Bench and floor workers and mounders, $1.15 an hour; machine moulders $1.04 an hour; coremakers, $1.15 an hour.

A company spokesman further said "that in view of the fact that average earnings of piece workers in these classifications during the last year have been in excess of $1.30 an hour the new guaranteed earning rates do not mean any increase in wages to be paid."

testified before Judge Smith that he had thought he was divorced from his first wife, Elizabeth Koke of Green Springs, when he married his second wife, Lucille Fletcher of Marion. His first marriage took place on Oct. 16, 1939. He was inducted into the army shortly afterwards and was plaintiff in a divorce action against his first wife. The suit was heard in common pleas court on Dec. 16, 1943, and Jaggers testified that when his attorney told him "there papers would have to be sent to him" he understood that he was divorced. His second marriage occurred a day later.

After his second marriage his divorce proceedings were dismissed on motion of his attorney.

During his army service Jaggers said that his allotment checks were sent regularly to his first wife, but that he had sent additional money each month for support of his second wife.

In connection with the terms of the probation he agreed to pay the court costs and to provide for his minor children. He has a child by each marriage.

Jaggers was indicted by the January term grand jury and has been held in county jail awaiting trial. At an arraignment following his indictment he had entered a plea of not guilty.

lide Down Hill Marks This Town's Finish

IPING FAST down the mountainside, Jerome, Ariz., is considered not worth rebuilding.

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer

JEROME, Ariz.—City Manager R. E. Moore's meditative gaze strayed down into the valley, past tumbled ruins in his once-booming mine town.

Below his perch on the courthouse railing vacant buildings and homes spilled down the mountainside for 1,000 feet. These were the physical relics of the City of Jerome, the town that is literally sliding into oblivion.

"It's more than a little disheartening," Moore said, "to see your city going to pieces in front of your very eyes.

Nearing Bottom, But—

"That's what is happening to Jerome, you know. I'm not thinking only of the fact that we're sliding slowly down the mountainside. The land on which the town is built is collapsing into abandoned mine shafts, and has been since 1930, at a rate of a foot and a half a month. But that subsidence recently has been decreasing. The old shafts are filling and we could rebuild the city.

"But why should we? There isn't much reason to go to the trouble," Moore said, "and that's the worst of it."

The mining operations responsible for the subsidence, Moore said, were abandoned when the copper ore body gave out. Other mines in Cleopatra Mountain are operating, but newer towns in the area have eliminated the necessity of Jerome's continued existence, he said. He also blamed the war as a major factor. Many miners, he said, went into the services, and others were lured away by higher pay in west coast war industries. Few have come back to Jerome.

"Once we had 2,700 workers. Now we have about 300," Moore said. "I don't believe the town is ever going to make a comeback. Our peak population was 8,500, against the 2,000 we have now."

Mile-high Jerome's downhill slide caused the wrecking over a period of years of the main business center of town. As the crust slipped, two- and three-story buildings were condemned and pulled down before any unsuspecting residents could be hurt.

"We've probably got the only jail in the world that has walked across the street. Of course, it took the street with it, but it arrived on the other side intact. We could still use it if we had to," Moore said, "but it's been abandoned for lack of plumbing and inaccessibility."

Labor Problem Joker

The city manager insisted it was not the slide that emptied the town's buildings, although most of them show signs of the stress.

"It's the lack of labor," he said. "I've never seen anything like it, and I've held this job for 21 years.

"There's one bright spot in the picture," Moore said, and his blue eyes signaled the start of a smile that indicated he wasn't too worried about the future of Jerome, after all. "I guess this is about the only place in Arizona where you can still rent a house or an office, or a whole office building, and still keep your shirt and your soul."

Three Bears Give Resort Manager Plenty of Worry

By The United Press

HURLEY, Wis. — Frank J. Ryan is getting very tired of the three bears.

In his case it's a mama bear and two cubs. The mama bear must have liked something she ate on her first visit. Maybe it was the sack of sugar and case of tobacco she whipped up for dessert in Ryan's kitchen. Ryan said she ate most of this concoction and kept coming back to his resort cabin on Moose lake, 20 miles southwest of Hurley, often bringing her two cubs.

The bear has made herself a menace as well as a nuisance, too, to Ryan's housekeeper, Sue Grakoski. She entered the housekeeper's bedroom and pawed her face and side. Ryan blamed the state conservation department for failing to protect him against the lumbering beast and demanded that the department pay $682 for damages to the cabin and $30 for the medical expenses of treating Miss Grakoski for shock and bruises.

Ryan made out a list of the things that the mama bear and her two cubs destroyed or ate at his place in recent weeks: three cans of baking powder, three boxes of soap, a dozen jars of pickles, three cans of molasses, two pounds of raisins and prunes, 12 gallons of syrup, 25 pounds of lard, eight pounds of meat, five loaves of bread, a case and a half of canned milk, half a case each of tomatoes, peas and corn, 18 cans of tomato paste, 25 pounds of sugar, 12 pounds of coffee and a gallon of honey.

Besides this, Ryan said, the bears tore a hole in the roof, ripped out the electric wiring in the attic, tore up some clothes, smashed dishes, broke four windows, clawed doors and nearby trees and destroyed papers and records.

"I've been here 14 years, but now I am getting out," Ryan insisted. "I can't take it any more. It's driving me bughouse."

Residential Plumbing System Can Be Designed So As To Operate Quietly

It is entirely possible to plan the plumbing system for a new house so that it will operate noiselessly, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Two kinds of noise are most frequently found in piping, the Bureau explains. One is the hammering noise due to the rapid closing of valves and faucets. The other is the whistling noise caused by water flowing through valves or other restrictions at high speed.

An experienced master plumber knows how to design a piping system so that neither type of noise will be heard. Factors which prevent noise are: Piping of adequate size with the entire piping system properly designed and correctly installed; air chambers for all fixtures; water at the right pressure.

Sizing of the piping is a very important factor in minimizing noise. A system with undersized valves, piping, and fittings is likely to be objectionable. Less noise occurs when water flows through larger pipes because the velocity is reduced.

Probable Sources

Most pipe noises occur at bends and tees. This is because pressure is reduced in this region by high velocity flow around a small, sharp bend. An experienced master plumber knows how to design a piping system so as to avoid all unnecessary bends.

If the pressure in city mains is too great, a pressure reducing unit should be installed. This device will reduce the pressure to any desired amount. Excessive pressure is undesirable not only because it tends to produce noise but also because it may cause leaks in pipe, tanks, and fittings, and also because it causes spurting of water when faucets are turned on.

Much attention has been given in recent years to the best ways of preventing the noise known as water hammer. It has been found that when a valve or faucet is closed suddenly, an excess of pressure is produced. A shock wave is created at the valve and travels along the pipe until it reaches a large pipe or tank; it is then reflected and travels back to the valve as subnormal pressure. The sudden creation of this excess pressure pounding of the valve or faucet discs and vibrating of pipes, resulting in considerable noise.

Methods of Prevention

There are two general ways to prevent excessive water hammer pressure in piping. First, valves and faucets should not be closed rapidly. Second, some sort of relief device should be installed on the pipe line near the valves.

An air chamber prevents the water flowing in a pipe from being stopped too suddenly, even though the valve is closed instantly. However, the air gradually disappears through leakage or by dissolving in the water. Periodic replenishment of the supply of air is necessary if the chamber is to perform its function.

Various commercial devices have been developed in which the air is enclosed in a metal bellows or bag, in order to prevent the loss of air. The air acts as a cushion absorbing the shock. There are also on the market various types of spring-loaded relief devices.

Lewis May Center on Working Rules Instead of Wages

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14 — John L. Lewis played sphinx today but there was much conjecture that he planned to soft-pedal wage increase demands and concentrate on winning better working conditions for his soft coal miners.

At the same time the trend of the two-day old national bituminous wage conference gave rise to hope among industry representatives that Lewis might cancel a strike April 1 despite the fact that he already has cleared the way for such a walkout.

The speculation over Lewis' wage position left uncertain Tuesday when he proposed merely that wages be raised and hours be not ... touched off yesterday. The United Mine Workers chief devoted an entire day to explaining the UMW's demand for miners' health and welfare fund.

The fund was one of nine general demands which Lewis placed before the conference.

Wages were not discussed at yesterday's public meeting and they are not on today's program.

The UMW turned full pressure on the health and welfare fund program stressing what it termed poor hospitalization and medical benefits now available, inadequate compensation laws, lack of mine safety and other working conditions which the union wants improved under the new contract.

A spokesman for the coal operators said the industry now feels that Lewis may not resort to a coal tieup because of several factors. They include:

1 He has emphasized that all of his mine demands are negotiable indicating that he is in a mood for across-the-table settlement.

2 Operators definitely are in a negotiating mood.

3 As a recently affiliated member of the AFL, Lewis would prefer to avoid a strike, in accord with the AFL's no-strike policy.

WASHINGTON BUZZES OVER TRUMAN CHOICE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14 — Capitol Hill got busy guessing today about who will be President Truman's selection for under secretary of the Navy now that Edwin W. Pauley has quit his uphill fight for the post.

Mr Truman has not made up his mind who he will name the White House said.

Press Secretary Charles G Ross told reporters that "no name has been decided upon." He added it was unlikely that Mr Truman would be ready to announce the nomination at a news conference late today.

Four names figured immediately in the speculation: H Struve Hensel, recently resigned assistant secretary, and John L. Sullivan, a present assistant secretary, Joseph Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, and Colgate W Darden, former governor of Virginia.

A member of the senate naval committee said he understood Kennedy would not be interested in the post unless it would lead to full cabinet status. Another said the chance for Darden's appointment was dimmed because his friend, Senator Harry Byrd (D-Va), has opposed Pauley during the long confirmation fight.

Pauley's decision to withdraw yesterday, it was learned, came after he had been informed that otherwise the committee was determined to vote immediately on his nomination. Administration polls were said to have shown he would have lost by at least a two-vote margin in the committee and by considerably more than that if his name had reached the senate floor.

BOXES SENT TO COLLEGE

When the Judson circle of Trinity Baptist church met Thursday it was voted to send two boxes of school and hospital supplies to Central Philippine college, Philippine Islands. Mrs Edwin Brewer was hostess for the meeting in her home near Marion. Devotions were by Mrs G Merrill. It was voted to give $5 toward overseas shipping charges on White Cross mission supplies. Carpet rags were sewed. The next meeting will be in the home of Mr S W Rinehart near Upper Sandusky.

FIELD DIRECTOR HERE TO FORM NEW GROUP

Seeks Members in Marion for Executives Club

Perle L. Sagebiel field director for the Associated Executives clubs is in Marion to inaugurate plans for the organization of a club here. He recently completed the organization of a club in Lima which will hold its first meeting on March 22. At this time the speaker will be the Archduke Felix of Austria.

There are 130 clubs in the United States and Mexico. Organized for cultural advancement and sociability, dinner meetings with nationally and internationally-known speakers are held monthly with wives and friends of the members as guests. Meetings are held seven months in the year. Executives and professional men make up the membership roster. A club has been active at Dayton for the last seven years. Mr Sagebiel is stopping at Hotel Harding.

and F D Spicer, company vice president.

The wage increase, the joint statement said, will be for all employes represented by UE but later it was said a similar increase would be given employes represented by other bargaining units. Several small AFL and independent unions have organizations among General Electric employes.

Retroactive Plan

Fitzgerald said the settlement provides for a retroactive increase to Jan 1 when the company made its original offer of an increase of 10 cents an hour for workers earning less than $1 an hour and an increase of 10 per cent for those earning more than $1 an hour.

When the General Electric employes struck in support of demands for a $2 a day boost there was a simultaneous walkout of 75,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric Corp and 25,000 from the electrical division of General Motors Corp.

The GM workers settled their strike a month ago for an 18.5 cents per hour increase.

Cleveland Strikers Still on Parade

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND March 14—More than 200 striking employes of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co's Cleveland plant paraded today under police surveillance with the announced intention of demonstrating that we are still on strike.

Strikers massed a block away from the plant gates where pickets—limited by injunction—continued the patrol that started with the strike of CIO United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers. Representative Howard Metzenbaum, union counsel, said the union leadership had abandoned plans for a mass demonstration in front of the plant because of two petitions filed in common pleas court yesterday.

Two Theories Advanced

From the American government's viewpoint the critical question now is Russia's ultimate foreign policy objectives. About this two theories are voiced most frequently here.

The first is that Russia because of her uncertainty about friendship in the rest of the world is trying to surround herself with Moscow-dominated "friendly governments."

Diplomats say that if their view is correct there should be no insurmountable obstacles to an eventual understanding since the common need for security offers a meeting ground for all powers.

The second theory is that Russia may be intent upon political and territorial expansion far beyond the limits of her security interests. Authorities generally agree that should this prove to be the case the task of coming to any kind of satisfactory arrangement with Moscow would be almost impossible unless and until Moscow modified its policy.

Churchill Is Sowing Seeds of Quarrels, Stalin Tells World

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 14 — Generalissimo Stalin in a sharp personal attack accused Winston Churchill yesterday of sowing the seeds of quarrels between wartime Allies and of trying to bring about world rule by English-speaking nations.

Mr Churchill and his friends in this respect astonishingly resemble Hitler and his friends, Stalin said in an interview with a correspondent of Pravda, Communist party newspaper.

Replying to Churchill's speech of March 5 at Fulton Mo in which the former British prime minister advocated a virtual American-British military alliance, Stalin said:

Hitler began inciting war by proclaiming the race theory and declaring that only German speaking people were a superior nation.

Mr Churchill and his friends in England and the United States present nations not speaking the English language with a sort of ultimatum: recognize our domination voluntarily and then everything will be in order—if not then war is inevitable.

However nations shed blood during five years of severe war for freedom and independence not in order to change the domination of Hitlerites for the domination of Churchills. That is why it is wholly probable that nations not speaking English — and together with this nation making a large majority of the world population —do not agree to enter a new slavery."

Stalin's comments were broadcast throughout the world by the Moscow radio.

British Rap Stalin, Call for Parley

By The Associated Press

LONDON March 14—British newspapers criticized Generalissimo Stalin today for his attack on Winston Churchill and called for a Big Three meeting soon to attempt to improve relations between Russia and her two wartime allies.

A foreign office spokesman said there would be no official comment on Stalin's statements since Churchill has no status in the government. Official circles indicated that the former prime minister would be left to speak for himself. He is scheduled to broadcast a speech of world importance from New York City tomorrow night, authoritative sources there said.

Bevin Warns Reds of Forced Agreement

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 14—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared today Britain would "regret" any settlement between Russia and Iran which appeared to be extracted from the Tehran government under duress while Soviet forces are still occupying the country.

Bevin told the house of commons that despite the continued presence of Soviet troops in Iran the British government had taken no decision to put British troops back in the troubled area.

Nor, he added, "have his majesty's government taken any steps to open negotiations with the Iranian government for the return of British troops."

U B CLASS HOSTESS

Misses Virginia Kelley and Ruth Young were hostesses for a meeting of the Victory class of First U B church Tuesday night in the U B Community house on South Prospect street. Devotions were by Miss Young and prayers were by Mrs. L. E. Walters and Miss Gwyneth Coler. Contest honors went to Robert Barnhart, Miss Coler and Mrs Walters.

WOMEN VOTING IN ITALY. For the first time in Italy's history women—now allowed to vote—are shown casting their ballots for local officials, in the first free elections held in Italy in 26 years. Similar scenes were repeated in 436 communities there mostly being small towns and villages. Results of the local elections were expected to reveal the direction of political trends in postwar Italy and were being carefully watched.

GIVES RED ALIBI Insisting that he had been given permission to strip Mukden of industrial equipment by a Big Three agreement, Russian Gen Kovtun Stankevitch is shown as he talked with American newsmen just before leaving the embattled and despoiled city. Protest has been made against removal of machinery from the area.

Church Night Event Held at Epworth

The second in a series of church night events at Epworth Methodist church was held Wednesday night with the church basement dining room filled for dinner and a program. The program was on a youth emphasis theme with young people of the church taking part and a talk by a youth leader. Dinner was served by members of the W S C S.

John Clark offered prayer and the Sunday school orchestra played. A letter from Pvt John Bryans stationed in Utah, formerly an active member of the youth group of the church, was read by Miss Margaret Huffman. Paul Dasher was toastmaster. Miss Joyce Bohyer led group singing and Carolyn Burdell played the piano. Devotions on Lent were by Dr S M Ingmire, pastor, who spoke on a need for self searching and character examination by each individual in this period before Easter for self-improvement for better and more worthwhile living. Ralph Hurr talked on "The Place of Youth in the Church" asking adults present to show a sympathetic attitude toward the problems of young people and to cooperate and share activities with them.

A one-act play "We Call It Freedom" by Wilson, with a theme of justice and fair treatment for all races and ranks of people, was presented by Miss Mary Jo Stafford, Mrs Irene Moore, Mrs Maxine Stincheomb and Miss Evelyn Hazen. John Scheifler and Richard Indoe arranged a stage setting.

CLUBHOUSE PLANS DISCUSSED BY GROUP

Project Taken Up at Meeting of Harness Race Club

Plans for construction of a modern clubhouse at the fairground were discussed Wednesday night at Hotel Harding at a dinner meeting of the Marion Matinee club, a group composed of harness racing devotees. Earlier tentative plans for the clubhouse had been shelved when it was thought a shortage of building materials would delay construction indefinitely.

Newer estimates of the materials situation have been possible that the clubhouse can be built this year. In conjunction with the plans for the clubhouse preliminary outlines for a membership drive to be held in the near future were discussed.

Members heard a report on improving and reconditioning the inner circle track at the fairground where horses can be raced and exercised when bad weather prevents use of the regular track. Work on this is in progress. The first race will be held in May.

Following the business meeting the 45 members and guests present heard anecdotes on harness racing incidents familiar to various guests.

NAZIS

four engine bombers Goering said.

The Luftwaffe was developing jet aircraft even before the war he said adding proudly "I am solely responsible for rearmament of the air force in every way."

Accepts Responsibility

Goering also accepted "full and complete responsibility" for all anti-Jewish economic decrees which bore his signature. He told the court that although he received many written and verbal orders from Hitler to carry out anti-Jewish laws he did not propose in any way to hide behind the fuehrer.

Turning to the German departure from the League of Nations and her institution of rearmament, Goering told the tribunal:

When it was clear that other powers were unwilling to disarm and that a power in the east—Russia—was carrying out unheard of rearmament it became necessary for us to rearm in the interests of the security of the reich.

Discussing abandonment of the Versailles treaty, he argued that all complaints about German minorities met with indifference or only well meant advice.

Regrets Purge

Goering also said he "deeply regretted" the assassination in the Nazi party blood purge of people who had nothing at all to do with the (Capt Ernest) Roehm revolt.

Goering said the killing of Gen Kurt Von Schleicher, former German chancellor, and his wife in June 1934 was a sad accident.

Goering said Von Schleicher reached for a pistol "possibly to kill himself" and two agents who had come to arrest him, raised their weapons.

Goering defended the Nazi program of blind obedience to the fuehrer with the contention "The Catholic church is still relying on the leadership principle. Russia too could not have survived without it and could not have met the great difficulties of this war."

He bristled when questioned about the "master race" declaring "you would never find that term in my writings or speeches. In my view if you are a master you don't have to emphasize it."

Planned Church Action

He said Hitler planned to separate the church from politics.

He conceded that a number of clergymen including Rev Martin Niemoeller had been sent to concentration camps but insisted that some of them made "political speeches in churches criticizing the leaders of the party. In occupied areas, priests often were involved in acts hostile to the occupation forces."

Admitting that Nazis intended to eliminate Jews from public life Goering declared anti-Semitism was strong in Germany before the party was born.

He said the Nazis crushed the trade unions because "they agreed with the left to such an extent they did not fit into our state. I am convinced that only we gave the German worker real freedom.

BOY SCOUT CIRCUS SET AT LINCOLN PARK JUNE 6

Plans Made at Meeting of Leaders of Local Troops

A Boy Scout circus to be held June 6 at Lincoln park was agreed upon at a meeting Wednesday night of Harding Area Boy Scout leaders. Plans for the circus were carried by a unanimous vote of the 25 leaders present.

The circus will consist of 11 events in which all local troops and Cub packs will participate. Further instructions for preparing their parts will be sent to the troops and packs in the near future.

Events are Grand entree, human signal tower, rope tying relay, first aid relay, chariot race of vehicles constructed by the Scouts in which one boy will ride while four pull, a Cub event the details of which are yet to be announced, a fun event titled "The Battle of the Ages" signaling exhibition, a commando fun event, a recognition ceremony for all boys who have advanced since the last court of honor and the grand closing ceremonies.

Cub leaders met with the den mothers at 1:30 p m yesterday to discuss Cub programs. Handicrafts were the chief topics.

State Department Told To Clean Up

WASHINGTON March 14 — Chairman May (D Ky) disclosed today that a house military subcommittee had requested the state department to rid its intelligence service of personnel with "strong Soviet leanings."

May who heads the subcommittee as well as the full committee declined to give details.

But other subcommittee members said privately that "strong representations" had been made to Secretary of State Byrnes. And they promised definite committee action unless Mr Byrnes takes action quickly.

Back-To-Work Vote Asked at Timken, NLRB Gets Charge

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O, March ... workers' appeal for a ... whether to return to the ... and the filing of charges ... NLRB and a statement ... President Philip Murray featured the 53-day Timken Roller Bearing Co strike.

Ten men who said they are members of the CIO-United Steel workers union signed a petition asking for a mass meeting for the purpose of taking a secret vote to determine if the strikers are willing to return to work while negotiations continue.

John J Lennon, spokesman for the group, said they represent four committees and reflect the feelings of all Timken ...

Finas Reynolds, president of the Canton local, retorted the petition was company-inspired and part of a management effort to break the union. "We are not swayed with cheap antics and maneuvers," he added.

Some 14,000 workers have been idled by the strike in plants here and in Wooster, Columbus, Mount Vernon, Falls and Zanesville.

Murray in a statement ... union complaint filed NLRB in Cleveland ... company of false ... that the union violated ... in striking with attacks ... vilifying union ... with trying to attract ... ers through newspaper advertisements.

UNRRA TO CONVENE ON FOOD SHORTAGES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14 — A desperate search for food and funds to replenish the ... can larders will bring delegates from 47 nations together ... row in Atlantic City for UNRRA's fourth council meeting.

In the midst of an international situation gravely complicated by diplomatic differences, the delegates' chief attention will be focused upon a problem which bridged ideological disputes — the task of helping millions impoverished by war.

It is not a simple job. Expert opinion is that even with the most expert planning, world wide conservation, and skillful administration starvation and suffering cannot be avoided completely.

Three years ago when UNRRA—the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration—was born it was hailed on Capitol Hill as the first full-fledged act of international cooperation in peacetime.

Now it is concerned more immediately with eradicating existing causes of unrest — hunger among untold millions, homeless thousands of political refugees, inadequate shipping facilities and wrecked industries.

Among the major problems which will confront the delegates are these:

1 What agency will take over UNRRA's work in the future. Under present plans its operations in Europe are scheduled to end by Dec 31, in Asia by the middle of next year.

2 Russia's probable renewed request to deny political refugees UNRRA aid unless they return to their homelands. This proposal was rejected by the council at its meeting last fall in London.

3 A congressional mandate for the American delegation to press for free movement of press representatives in countries receiving UNRRA aid.

4 An effort to obtain aid for Argentina, Syria, Lebanon and Turkey—four countries in the United Nations but not members of UNRRA.

College Group On Richwood Program

A group of young people from Rio Grande college at Rio Grande, O., will be present at the morning service in the First Baptist church in Richwood Sunday. Under the direction of their leader, Miss Margaret Rife, these young people will conduct the morning service of worship and lead the Sunday school classes of the junior high and senior high young people's departments. Arriving Saturday, they will be entertained in the homes of church members. The men's chorus of First Baptist church will bring special numbers at morning and evening services. At the evening service the pastor, Rev. Donald S. Hobbs, will preach on "The Newness of an Old Religion."

Nylons or Orchids Safe Driver Awards

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 14—A woman driver never knows—she may get a traffic ticket, or a pair of nylon stockings when she is ordered by a policeman here to "pull over to the curb, lady."

Careful women drivers whose skill at the wheel attracts the attention of traffic officers are being rewarded with nylons, in a campaign for better driving, backed by civic clubs.

In Columbia, the state's capital, it's orchids the lady gets, and other communities have inaugurated similar reward systems.

Charles II of England sold Dunkerque to the French for 5,000,000 livres.

Swiss Miss Misses Guess on Washington

By The Associated Press

VISP, SWITZERLAND — The editor of the local newspaper, the Walliser Bote, has a theory that Americans know more about Switzerland's hero, William Tell, than the Swiss know about George Washington

To prove his point the editor asked fellow-townsmen, "Who was George Washington?"

Here were some of the answers as reported in the newspaper

A store proprietor "Let's see, seems to me I've heard that name Oh, yes, that was the town where Roosevelt lived"

A railway employe "He was President of the United States He was very famous but I can't recall just why Didn't he build the Panama Canal?"

A school teacher "Only two weeks ago my pupils were required to write a composition on 'The War of Independence and Its Influence Upon European History' My dear fellow, I know all about the man"

A girl who had been running after American furloughees "Wasn't he a jazz-band director?"

A politician "George Washington—why that's the chap who fought against slavery He freed America from the British yoke and was one of the spiritual leaders of the French revolution Finally he was assassinated in a theater"

Brownie, Girl Scouts Give P.-T.A. Program

The Brownie and Girl Scout troops presented the program at the George Washington P.-T.A. meeting Tuesday.

The Brownies presented a brief demonstration meeting which opened by singing the Brownie "Smile Song." Roll call was read by Sonja Giles. Nancy Hershey played an accordion solo. Patty Clingenpeel gave a report of the Friendship bags which had been sent to Holland. The meeting closed with a Dutch dance given by Gay Wise dressed in a Dutch costume, followed by the singing of the "Good Night" song.

Devotions were conducted by the Girl Scouts. Bonnie Jones read the 19th Psalm from an old McGuffey reader, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer, the Pledge to the Flag and the Scout Pledge.

A demonstration of the Arts and Crafts work of the troop was given by Kathryn Nagle and Doris Yost. Patricia Harris reported on work done by the group working for first class rank.

Second class badges were awarded to Margaret Zachman, Sally Ann Knickle, Diane Wiltred, Marian Smith, Norma Jean Beal, Bonnie Jones, Patricia Harris and Maureen Smalley.

Corsages were given by the troops to Mrs. George Howser and Mrs. J. E. Oliphant, city counselors of Scouts, and to all other leaders and counselors of the troops.

The meeting closed with an accordion solo, "The Holy City," by Dr. C. E. Hershey.

Uncle Sam Cops Glove Market

ALL - AMERICAN CLASSIC ...White pigskin gloves made in the U.S.A., will add the perfect finishing touch to that Easter ensemble this year. They're hand-sewn, finger-free and washable.

WELL-BRED HANDS....They are always smartly gloved, for work or play. These dark brown capeskin gloves, by Merry Hull, team well with suits. The loose look in U. S. fashion.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

There's no longer any need to yearn for those once cherished French gloves. Your own Uncle Sam is now in a position to furnish you with the finest leather gloves in the world.

The experience and research gained in supplying 200 million pairs of gloves to the armed forces during the war has equipped U. S. manufacturers with the greatest "know how" in the history of glove making.

During the war American tanners of glove leather developed new tanning methods far superior to any used in Europe, says the National Association of Leather Glove Manufacturers, adding that some of these methods are now being introduced in France in an attempt to bring their products up to the American par.

An outstanding achievement of American manufacturers is the production of washable leathers, generally unavailable in Europe, and a handling of color unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

America expects little serious competition for some time from glove manufacturers of Germany, France and Czechoslovakia, principal sources of imported gloves before the war. Russia is said to be taking the entire German glove output at present. France is beset with labor troubles, and Czechoslovakia lacks basic materials.

You'll be able to buy a fair supply of American-made leather gloves this spring, says the association, and by fall the supply should be back to normal.

Gideons Hear Talk by Religious Director

Miss Lydia Ebel, instructor of weekday religious education in the public schools, was the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Gideons, held Tuesday at Hotel Harding. Miss Ebel spoke of various phases of the religious education program which challenge character building. In speaking of the advantages of week-day training, she said, "Children are beginning to realize that religion is not a mere Sunday affair. Religious education gives understanding and light to the child's life." She cited various illustrations to show how the children have gained a better understanding of racial, religious, and denominational differences.

Two vocal numbers were presented by a girls' trio, composed of Louise Caldwell, Patricia Falor, and Grace Cyders. Their selections were "On the Jericho Road," and "Christ Is Not a Disappointment." Unison singing was led by Howard Orr. Clifford Ward, chaplain, was in charge of a devotional service.

Harry Crowner, president, was in charge of the meeting.

During the Auxiliary meeting, Mrs. Cicero Zachman conducted a questionnaire on Bible knowledge.

Guests present were Misses Caldwell, Falor and Cyders, Miss Esther Hanawalt, Charles Chappell and Ralph Good.

Gen. Clark Hints He Wants Austria Freed of Troops

by DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

VIENNA, March 14—Your correspondent has come away from a highly interesting but informal conversation with General Mark Clark, American commander in chief of Austria, with the distinct impression that he would like to see all the Allied forces of occupation—Russia, British, French and American—withdrawn from this country by next fall and the administration turned over to the Austrian government.

As a matter of fact, I understand that there is before the Allied council a proposal for a withdrawal. However, one suspects that if I've interpreted the general's feeling correctly, he is indulging in a wish rather than any strong expectation that such a withdrawal may take place.

DewittMackenzie

While the British, French and Americans might be prepared to pull out under a four-power agreement, I've found no indication that the Russians would subscribe to any such procedure at an early date. The signs have been that the Muscovites figure a long period of control in Austria to be necessary. Certainly there will be no withdrawal unless all four participate.

Has Wide Knowledge

I found General Clark viewing the Austrian position from a horse-sense standpoint based on a wide knowledge of the whole European problem.

We had our chat in his private office at the American headquarters and he promptly robbed it of any formality by coming out from behind his big desk to shake hands in a friendly fashion and then leading me across the room to some easy chairs.

The picture wouldn't be complete if I didn't report that the general's constant companion, his cocker spaniel "Pal," made himself a member of the party by jumping to his master's knees to be petted. Clark grinned and introduced "Pal" with the remark that the last letter his wife wrote asked if "Pal" was getting his baths. Having heard that Mrs. Clark was coming to Austria, I asked when she was arriving, and the general's grin broadened as he opined she would be among the first contingent of soldiers' wives to arrive in this zone next month.

Sees Great Strain

I've referred to General Clark's horse-sense and humanitarian outlook. I believe one of his main reasons for wanting to see Austria turned back to its own government as soon as feasible is that the military occupation is a terrific financial strain on the little country and will bleed it white if long continued.

Austria, of course, hasn't been placed by the Allies in the category of Hitlerite Germany as a menace to peace. Austria was overrun by the Nazi dictator, and so was perhaps more sinned against than sinning, although that doesn't absolve her from blame. However, those are points I didn't discuss with General Clark and are my own observations.

SHOT BY "DRESS SUIT" GUNMAN. Mrs. Patricia Ann Fisher (above), 38, was seriously wounded at Chicago, Ill., by a man attired in a full dress suit. The gunman shot Mrs. Fisher and wounded her escort. Police believe the assailant is a man who was involved in a $700 swindle in Lansing, Mich., earlier in the week.

2,700 Acre Farm Now Chicken Ranch

By The Associated Press

PULASKI, Tenn.—The 68-stall barn at the old Milky Way farm near here, which once housed some of the country's top thoroughbred horses, now is the home of 20,000 chickens.

Albert Noe Jr., bought the famous 2,700-acre farm last year from the late Mrs. Ethel Mars and decided to solve the meat shortage by raising chickens for use in his five hotels. He processes 300 per day at the farm, now named the Albert Noe Farm.

He doesn't confine his farm program to chicken-raising, however. He has a few Tennessee walking horses and has poured several thousand dollars into a dairy and beef cattle herd.

KENT CONTRACT SET

By The Associated Press

KENT, O., March 14—Officials of the CIO-United Auto Workers and the Twin Coach Co. have agreed on terms of a new contract to include wage increases, the union reported, adding its members would vote on the agreement next Sunday. Details were not announced.

The town of Kingston originally was the capital of New York state.

Telephone Brings Voice from "Dead"

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J.—City Fireman George W. Vetter, Jr., heard a voice on the telephone say cheerily, "Hello, George Old Pal, how are ya?"

George's hands shook and he was speechless. The voice was that of Felix Martinez, a buddy whom Vetter himself had listed as dead in his duties as a sergeant in a French forest in August, 1944.

Martinez, a Mt. Vernon, N. Y., resident, assured Vetter he was very much alive even though a hand grenade had exploded in front of him in full sight of his company. He had not returned that night in France, but was rescued by another outfit.

Roy T. Helfrich, 66, Stricken at Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, March 14—Roy T. Helfrich, 66, of 313 North Seltzer street died suddenly of a heart attack while at work as clerk in the office of the storeroom department at the Pennsylvania round house Wednesday about 12:30 p. m.

Mr. Helfrich was born Nov. 13, 1879 to Christ and Molly Calnan Helfrich. Forty years ago he lost both legs while at work for the Pennsylvania railroad and has since been confined to a wheel chair.

He was married in 1914 to Miss Golda Pickering who survives with three children, Mrs Robert Grudier, Richard Helfrich, Jack Helfrich, one sister, Mrs C A Marquart, Crestline and two brothers, Howard Helfrich, and Edward Helfrich, Crestline.

Friends may call at the home where services will be held at 2:30 p m Saturday Rev. S A Metzger of the English Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

CRAWFORD RITES HELD

BUCYRUS, March 14 — John Frank Kaler, 90, lifetime resident of the county, died at his home Tuesday following a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted today at the Wise Funeral home and burial was made in Biddle cemetery. Survivors are six children Willis and George Kaler of Crestline, Jacob of Shelby, Carl of Tiro, Mrs Delwyn Songer and Mrs. Calvin Becton of Bucyrus.

Crawford Co. Greets Brides of 3 Nations

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 14—Three brides, from as many countries, have arrived in the county to visit and establish homes, latest of whom is Mrs. Milo Stiger of London, widow of Cpl. Stiger who met his death in an accident in Germany a year after their marriage. Mrs. Stiger is visiting at the home of her husband's parents Mr. and Mrs Walter Stiger at Oceola.

Another late arrival is Mrs. John Bunn, Scottish bride of a North Robinson soldier, who will live in or near Bucyrus or "some other small town."

Here for a longer length of time Mrs. Richard Karr, the former Mona McHugh of Ireland, has become established as a citizen and is rapidly adjusting to the American way of life.

Former Ashley Man Hurt in Kentucky

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — Patrolman R. D. Liggett, graduate of Ashley High school in 1934, was seriously injured last Saturday when he was crushed between a patrol car and another car. He is in the Maysville hospital, Maysville, Ky., suffering from a crushed pelvic bone. The accident occurred near Georgetown, where he and his wife, the former Betty O'Keefe of Delaware, went recently.

FARM STRIKE PLANS EYED AT MANSFIELD

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., March 14—A merger of the American Farmers Vigilante Committee and the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest Association to fight federal regulations and subsidies and industrial strikes was being worked out here today.

H. H. Fackler of Plymouth, president of the Ohio group, said the proposal would be submitted this afternoon to the annual state meeting, along with a question of whether to call a seeding strike for Ohio farmers.

The Vigilantes' Committee, an organization with headquarters in Edgar, Nebr., has set April 1 for Nebraska farmers to stop seeding their land in protest against industrial strikes.

V. Hubert Johnson of Edgar, representing the Vigilantes, said that present low stocks of beef, eggs and pork would make a farm production strike quickly effective.

He declared that only a five-day public supply of beef and a two-week supply of eggs were on hand, but farmers could "sit it out" for a long time on their own stocks and produce.

Approximately 25 representatives of eight Ohio counties appeared at a morning business meeting to elect officers of the Ohio association.

The Ohioans came from Seneca, Auglaize, Huron, Crawford, Erie, Wood, Franklin and Richland counties.

Mrs. Thomas Zagar Stricken in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, March 14—Mrs. Lillie L. Zagar, 32, wife of Thomas Zagar of 229 South Boston street died in Galion City hospital at 4 a. m. today following an illness of three days. She underwent an operation at the hospital. Born Jan. 3, 1914, in Huntington, W. Va., she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkes. May 21, 1929, she married Mr. Zagar. A resident of Galion five years, she came here from Chicago. Surviving with her husband are two children, Thomas Zager Jr. and Doris Zagar, both at home, and a sister, Mrs. Viola Bachrens of Chicago. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in the Volk funeral home here by Rev. Father William Killoran, pastor of St. Patrick Catholic church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery, Galion.

Now for St. Patrick's Day

LIMERICK SALAD . . . To honor St. Patrick. . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Since St. Patrick's Day falls on a Sunday this year it makes a good occasion for the whole family to party together at supper time.

Decorations are the important touch to remind everybody that this day honors the Irish Saint. From a homemade pattern the children can trace and cut out shamrocks from green cardboard to be scattered decoratively over the table. As a really gala touch, turn the soft drink bottles into Irish boys and girls. Everybody likes to drink 'pop' with his sandwiches and salad, but few would think to turn the bottles into handsome table decorations.

Cut centers of small lace-paper doilies and slip them over the bottles for collars and skirts. Tiny salted-nut cups, properly crushed in at the top, make the boys' hats. Green-and-white paper napkins, folded together, make the colleens' shawls. Fasten collars and shawls with shamrock stickers.

For the 'Limerick Salad,' you can use home boiled corned beef and homemade cole slaw, or both may be bought ready-made. The big secret of the tang in this salad is that carbonated water is used in the recipe.

Limerick Salad

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatine, ½ cup cold water, ¼ cup boiling water, 2 bouillon cubes, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 cups shredded lean corned beef, 2 cups club soda, well-chilled, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2/3 cup cole slaw, mayonnaise, horseradish.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water, add to gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add onion, chili sauce, stir in shredded meat. Cool. Slowly pour in the chilled carbonated water. Add chopped parsley. Place in refrigerator to chill until partly set. Fold in cole slaw and blend thoroughly to distribute all ingredients evenly. Transfer to one-quart mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Return to refrigerator to set firmly. Serve, unmolded, with mayonnaise flavored to taste with horseradish. Garnish with parsley. Serves 6-8.

Homemade Cole Slaw

2 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons shredded carrots, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, salt and pepper.

Shred cabbage fine, soak in ice water for one hour to make it thoroughly crisp. Drain. Add green pepper and carrots. Mix together vinegar, sugar and olive oil. Pour over cabbage. Stir in mayonnaise. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Make sandwiches of dark and light bread, cut to a shamrock pattern. Cheese spreads in these sandwiches are particularly good as an accompaniment to the suggested salad.

SHERIFF WILL RELEASE PRISONER TO MICHIGAN

Kentuckian Will Be Returned as Parole Violator.

Newton Caldwell, 30, of Salyersville, Ky., indicted by a Marion county grand jury on a breaking and entering charge, will be turned over to authorities of Ann Arbor, Mich., today.

The sheriff's office reported it had received a bench warrant from Ann Arbor authorities charging Caldwell with auto theft on Oct. 11, 1945. The youth was on probation from the Washtenaw county court in Michigan and will be picked up for violation of his probation there.

Caldwell pleaded guilty to a breaking and entering indictment at his recent arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith. His sentence was withheld pending further action by the court. He was charged with breaking into the LaMar grill at 526 West Center street on Jan. 14 and taking $57.10 from the cash register. Indicted on the same charge was Ben H. Saylor, also of Salyersville. Both youths have been in county jail since their arraignment.

Officers Installed by Church Guild

Installation of officers was conducted by Rev. L. V. Bauguess when Westminster Guild of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church met for a dinner party Monday evening at Ringer's Inn.

Officers are Mrs. Robert Martin, president, Miss Mildred Cook, vice president, Miss Dorothy Lindsey, secretary, Miss Della Wasserbeck, treasurer, and Mrs. Martin, reporter.

Mrs. Maxine Stinchcomb, guest speaker, talked on her work with religious education in the schools. Contest awards went to Mrs. Stinchcomb, Mrs. Charles Lamb, Mrs. Jack Unland, Mrs. Leo Pennock and Mrs. James O'Dowd were guests.

Price Relief Rights Explained by WSB

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 14—Employers granting wage increases can protect future rights to seek price relief by filing a notice of raises with the wage stabilization board, the regional WSB office said today.

Regional Chairman George Maxwell reported a new regulation takes into account employers who may be uncertain as to later needs for price relief as a result of pay raises granted.

Although they have no present intention of using the wage increases as a basis of application to the OPA, employers now can protect their rights to apply for higher prices by filing with the WSB within 30 days a notice describing the pay raise, Maxwell said.

The chairman, whose region includes Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, added that employers filing such notices must obtain WSB approval of the raises before asking the OPA for price relief.

INVENTS "EYE." The ability to see objects in the dark up to distance of 10 to 15 miles has been made possible through the invention of the Cy project laboratory at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore. The discovery, called super-conducting bolometer, was discovered over a period of four years by a chemical group headed by Dr. H. Andrews, above. It is an infra-red eye which permits the observer to see without his own position being detected. The bolometer has a peace-time utility that ranges from a fire alarm to a weapon against cancer.

Carey Band Concert Set Tomorrow Night

Special to The Star

CAREY, March 14—One of the outstanding musical events of the school year will be presented by the Carey High school band in its Winter Concert Friday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium.

Noted Organist To Give Tuesday Night Concert for Galion Home Town Audience

Special to The Star

GALION, March 14—One of Galion's famed sons will return Tuesday evening, March 19 to present a concert for his home town folk. He is Arthur Poister, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Poister of Galion, now professor of organ at Oberlin Conservatory at Obelin.

Acclaimed in cities where he has appeared in concert, Poister has not played in Galion for several years. His program will be given at Senior High school auditorium at 8:15 p. m., sponsored by the Dorcas society of First Reformed church.

ARTHUR POISTER

Poister started his musical career with piano lessons by Miss Bessie Todd, a Galion teacher who has watched his progress with great pride. He was once organist at the First Reformed church. He began serious organ study with Edwin Arthur Kraft at Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland. From 1920 to 1925 he was organist at the First Congregational church, Sioux City, Ia. In 1926 he passed the associateship examination of the American Guild of Organists. That same year he received the degree of bachelor of music and in 1931 that of master of music from the American Conservatory of Music, having studied piano with Josef Lhevinne, organ with Wilhelm Middelschulte, and theory with Leo Sowerby and Arthur Olaf Anderson. After two years of study with Marcel Dupre in Paris, in 1928 he was appointed professor of organ at the University of Redlands, Calif.

In 1933 he again traveled abroad and studied. In 1937 he became head of the organ department at the University of Minnesota and in 1938 he accepted the post of professor of organ at Oberlin Conservatory of Music.

He has appeared in many recitals on the Pacific coast and has made three eastern tours.

His program in Galion includes compositions of Purcell, d'Aquin, Bach, Brahms, Mozart, Schubert, Peeters and Dupre.

In Marion, Mrs. H. K. Mouser of 141 South Prospect street has tickets for this concert.

CLASS GIVES PROGRAM

The Happy Thought class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Clarence Weber of 195 Wildwood court, with Mrs. John D. Jones as assistant hostess. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. W. B. Finley and roll call was answered with the title of an Irish song. Plans were made for a rummage sale and an announcement was made that the class is taking over an agency for paper products. This is to be in charge of Mrs. Wayne Barnhill.

Mrs. Arthur Parratt, in charge of the program, had as her guest speaker Mrs. Dale Lawrence. She gave a book review on "Papa Was a Preacher" by Porter. Plans were made for a potluck supper at the next meeting, April 10, at the church with families of the members as guests. Mrs. Herman Wohlschlag will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Perry Rider. Refreshments were served in keeping with the theme of St. Patrick's Day.

THEN SAID THE GOVERNOR

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's Number One car was given a parking ticket the other day in Charlotte. Patrolman Harold Minges, driver for Gov. Cherry, parked the limousine in front of a hotel while "the boss" went inside. Along came a cop with a parking ticket that added up to a one-dollar fine. Since then Minges has been sent dollars and offers of dollars from several loyal partisans — from "a good Hickory Democrat," from Mayor H. H. Baxter and from Police Chief Walter Anderson of Charlotte.

BAN BILTONG SALES

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG—A ban on the sale of biltong, South Africa's national delicacy, is recommended by a commission on wild life preservation. Biltong is made from the flesh of wild game dried in the sun. So heavy have been the raids by biltong hunters that some species of buck are threatened with extinction. Hunters drive lorries into the countryside at night and attract the game by flashlights. The commission proposes to make both the sale and purchase of game biltong a criminal offense.

Dessert Lunch Held by Presbyterian Aid

A dessert lunch at 1 o'clock preceded a meeting of the General Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, Thursday in the church parlors. Hostesses were members of Circle No. 6 of which Mrs. Aaron Goetting is leader.

Mrs. O. C. Alspach presided for the business session which included the installation of the recently-elected officers and the newly-named circle leaders. Mrs. Howard L. Olewiler presided as the installing officer. Leaders installed were: Mrs. S. L. Surface, Circle No. 1; Mrs. Walter Smith, No. 2; Mrs. A. F. Lanzer, No. 3; Miss Leona Taylor, No. 4; Mrs. A. C. May, No. 5; Mrs. E. W. Warwick, No. 6; Mrs. R. L. Case, No. 7; Mrs. A. T. Allen, No. 8.

The program included a playlet, "Stewardship to be Lived," given by members of Group No. 3, of which Mrs. O. E. Kanedy is leader. Taking part were Mrs. A. C. May, Mrs. Douglas Torrance, Mrs. O. D. Anderson and Mrs. W. C. Richardson.

This is the time to turn to winter squash. There is considerable food value in winter squash, more so than the summer varieties. Its most important contribution to the diet is vitamin A. It ranks with carrots and corn on the list of vegetables that are rich in this food constituent.

750 FANS SEE ACTION-PACKED GOLDEN GLOVES SESSION

Draper Wins with Fast KO, Officials Halt Four Matches

LaRue's Allen Stages Valiant Defense but Takes Count; Paperweights Dominate Semi-final Card.

By ART MYERS

Semi-finals in the Golden Gloves AAU district tournament were run off last night at the armory before another capacity crowd. Thirteen bouts were staged, the sponsors being handicapped by the failure of about 10 fighters from Galion and Springfield to show up. Finals are booked for Friday night under the sponsorship of the Y's Men's club. The crowd was estimated at 750.

Although seven of the bouts were in the paperweight class, six fights ranging from flyweight to welterweight gave the crowd plenty to yell about. Jack Draper of Marion picked up right where he left off Monday night. Draper, a welterweight, got tougher in each round in his fight with James Garns Monday and last night he was plenty tough in his fight with Donald Allen of LaRue. Draper demonstrated a hefty wallop before the bout was many seconds old. Working steadily on Allen's mid-section, he dropped him for a count of eight about halfway in the first round. Just before the round ended he put him down again with blows to the stomach.

Saved by Bell

Allen looked in no shape to get up but the bell intervened. Suddenly switching to the head at the start of the second, Draper tagged Allen with a jolting right to the jaw that drove him against the ropes. Draper followed and pinned him against the ropes with right and left hooks to the stomach and Allen went down hard. He got up on one knee at the count of five, but toppled over and out before he could rise to his feet. It was a clean K.O. for Draper.

Shortest fight was between Harold Waits of Marion, 113 pounds, and George Spinks of Marion, 114 pounds. Waits took a decision in the opening session of the tournament Monday night but last night he made it a technical knockout in about 30 seconds of the first round. It was a short and simple story. Waits got Spinks in a corner quickly and slugged him into submission. The referee stopped the fight, awarding Waits a T.K.O.

Crowd Sees Slugfest

Willard Light of Bucyrus and Bud Craig of Delaware gave the crowd a slugfest with everything but the water bucket thrown in, in their fight in the lightweight division. Both boys were in wonderful shape, and started slugging at the opening bell and kept it up. If either had been more accurate it is doubtful the bout would have gone the limit, but many blows went wild. Twice in the second round the boys went down together during clinches. Once they fell through the ropes onto the apron of the ring. Craig made a strong finish, landing some hard ones to the head, but Light piled up enough points in the earlier rounds to win the decision.

Richard Auck of Bucyrus and Maurice Chevalier of Marion fought a battle of round-house rights in their lightweight fight. Both boys overshot and undershot their marks, but plenty of solid punches were landed. Auck was more accurate over the long stretch and took the unanimous decision.

Aggressiveness Wins

Donald Byles of Delaware, 111 pounds, took the decision from Wayne Wilson of Marion, 113 pounds, by his aggressiveness. A shorter man with a shorter reach than Wilson, and not as experienced, he kept boring in at every opportunity. Wilson kept him off like the good defensive fighter he is, and gave him a few jolts back on account, but he couldn't stop Byles moving in. Both men took some damage about the face, but it was Byles' fight.

In a lightweight bout Charles Moore of Delaware decisioned Andy Anderson of Marion. It was an even fight at the start but as the bout wore on Moore looked better and better. Moore drew blood in the second round and from then on concentrated on Anderson's face with good left hooks. By the end of the bout he had the decision tucked safely away.

A disappointment of the tourney has been the failure of an opponent to get around to stepping into the ring with Jim Drexler, last year's featherweight champ. Monday night Drexler's opponent just decided it wasn't any use and backed out. Last night the failure of the Springfield delegation to put in an appearance again robbed Jim of a chance to perform. It looks now as though he will be crowned king of the featherweights without pulling on a glove. He got into the ring last night, however, when he seconded two of his proteges, Robert and Eugene Hunt of Marion.

Robert Hunt, 56 pounds, showed particular promise in the opening bout, scoring a T.K.O. over William Sporre of Marion, at 57 pounds. Hunt had a hard punch for such a little fellow and seldom wasted it. He had a good, sharp left jab and a fast right hook. He knocked Sporre down in the second round and in the last round Dr. A. J. "Doc" Wagner, the referee, had to stop the bout.

Eugene Hunt, 93 pounds, also showed good training and a nice style but ran into a very good boy in Harold Knapp of Marion, an 88 pounder. Knapp started slowly, and the first round found Hunt's fast left jab in his face most of the time. In the second round, Knapp began to connect with rights and lefts and in the final round gave a nice exhibition of boxing. Both boys are fine paperweights, but the decision went to Knapp by a shade.

Other paperweight bouts offered plenty of excitement too. Two were stopped by the referee. In a bout between Gene Coulson of Morral, a 77 pounder, and Roger Butler of Marion, an 86 pounder, Coulson was awarded a technical knockout when Butler was unable to come out for the third round.

Kenny Chevalier of Marion at 98 pounds scored a T.K.O. against Joe Davis of Marion at 91 pounds. Davis started the bout strongly but was a smaller boy and unable to match his opponent in height, weight or reach. He kept punching but got the worst of it as the fight wore on and referee Wagner stopped the bout in the last round.

Has Baseball Punch

A feature of the Richard Dawson-Bob Walters bout, both Marion paperweights, was the gymnations performed by young Walters before he let a right go. He wound up on some occasions like a big league pitcher getting ready to let go with a high, hard one. But he landed often enough to take the decision.

Robert Millington, 77 pounds, scored a clean cut decision over Homer Glenn, 80 pounds, both of Marion. Millington showed a good boxing style and had no trouble at any time in handling his opponent.

In the final bout Robert Lowry 70 pounds and Eugene Monroe, 64 pounds, both of Marion, gave the crowd an action filled show. Lowery, larger and heavier, battered Monroe throughout, but Monroe took it gamely and refused to quit. Lowry landed plenty of straight, clean punches to take a unanimous decision.

3 Fights Scheduled Tonight at Armory

Ali Pasha and Indio Yaqui will wrestle a no holds barred bout in one of the two 90 minute main events tonight at the armory while Steve Nenoff and Whitey Walburg will fight the other bout. At 8:30 a 10 minute tag team preliminary match will pit the team of Bob Rose and Dorman Knapp against Kenny Saunders and Howard Edington.

ABC'S $260,000 PIN MEET OPENS TONIGHT

30,000 Bowlers Due To Compete in Revived Event.

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 14—Two veteran bowlers, 82-year-old Louis Stein, and Peter Schultz, will be in the spotlight tonight when the American Bowling Congress opens its 43rd annual world championship tournament in Buffalo's 74th armory.

Stein and Schultz are scheduled to bowl together with New York City's Fidelis club on the second 40-team shift following ceremonies inaugurating the 62-day tourney. The meet is being resumed after a three-year wartime lapse.

Only living charter member of the ABC, Stein was present at the founding meeting on Sept. 9, 1895 and was responsible for adoption of the present scoring system, which recognizes 300 as the perfect game. Previously, 200 was the highest possible score.

Tonight's firing squad will be mild compared to that later in the tournament, most compact in history.

Singles and doubles will get under way tomorrow, and the timber will really fly Saturday, when bowling is scheduled from eight in the morning until past midnight.

Approximately 30,000 bowlers will compete during the meet for $260,000 in prize money.

Mid-State League Admits Sunbury, Sets Up Schedule

Loop Now Has Five Entries; Officers Reelected at Dinner Meeting Ending First Year.

Sunbury High school was admitted to the Mid-State football and basketball league at a dinner meeting of the Mid-State Athletic association last night at Hotel Harding as the league wound up its first year of existence.

Admission of Sunbury brings the list of Mid-State schools to five—Marion St Mary, Marysville, Richwood, Mt. Gilead and Sunbury.

Football and basketball schedules for the coming sensons were drawn up for league play and approved and the same slate of officers who served in the league's first year were reelected. They are G. L. Kingsmore of Marysville, president, R. Fetter of Richwood, vice president, and D. B. Noble of Mt. Gilead, secretary-treasurer.

The fall meeting of the association was set for Sept. 10 and the league coaches announced their selection of the all-league basketball team for the season just past.

Marysville, already holder of the league trophy for football, was awarded the league trophy for basketball as a result of their first place finish this season.

Robert Mason of WMRN discussed the football and basketball trophies which the radio station is setting up. They are three year trophies and when one team has won a trophy for the third time, not necessarily consecutive, it becomes a permanent possession. Marysville has one win credit toward that trophy in both sports.

The schedule adopted is:

Football

(1940)

Sept. 13, open; Sept. 20, Sunbury at St. Mary; Sept. 27, open; Oct. 4, Richwood at Marysville, Mt. Gilead at Sunbury; Oct. 11, Marysville at St. Mary, Richwood at Mt. Gilead; Oct. 18, St. Mary at Richwood; Oct. 25, Mt. Gilead at Marysville; Nov. 1, Sunbury at Marysville; Nov. 8, St Mary at Mt. Gilead, Sunbury at Richwood.

(1941)

Oct. 2, Marysville at Mt. Gilead, Richwood at St. Mary, Oct. 10, Sunbury at Marysville, Mt Gilead at Richwood; Oct. 17, Mt. Gilead at St. Mary, Richwood at Sunbury; Oct. 24, St. Mary at Marysville, Sunbury at Mt. Gilead; Oct. 31, Marysville at Richwood, St Mary at Sunbury.

Basketball

(1940-41)

Dec. 6, Sunbury at Marysville; Dec. 10, St. Mary at Richwood; Dec. 13, Marysville at St. Mary, Richwood at Mt. Gilead; Dec. 20, Mt. Gilead at Marysville, St. Mary at Sunbury; Jan. 3, Marysville at Richwood, Sunbury at Mt. Gilead; Jan. 10, Richwood at Sunbury, Mt. Gilead at St. Mary; Jan 17, Marysville at Sunbury, Richwood at St. Mary; Jan. 24, St. Mary at Marysville, Mt. Gilead at Richwood; Jan. 31, Marysville at Mt. Gilead, Sunbury at St. Mary; Feb. 7, Richwood at Marysville, Mt. Gilead at Sunbury; Feb. 14, Sunbury at Richwood, St. Mary at Mt Gilead.

"Indian Here Tonight"

It's a rematch between Indio Yaqui and Ali Pasha tonight at the Marion Armory with no disqualifications. These two met several weeks ago and Yaqui won over a disqualification when Pasha put his sleeper hold on the Indian outside the ropes. Tonight they meet again and Sammy Vangler, popular grappler here some years ago will act as referee. The other ninety minute match looks very good for Whitey Walberg is slated to meet the tough Bulgarian, Steve Nenoff. Both these matches are for the best two out of three falls. A one fall tag team match between the team of Dorman Knapp and Bob Rose against the team of Howard Edington and Kenny Saunders will start the show at 8:30. Call 2745 after six for seats. B-G Cagers Favored To Win Tonight's Opener in Garden

Ohioans Slated To Spill Rhode Island; OSU To Enter NCAA Battle Next Week.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14—The Bowling Green Falcons of Ohio and the St. John's Redmen of Brooklyn are favored to win tonight's opening games in the National Invitation tourney at Madison Square Garden, one of the climaxes to the college basketball season.

A sellout crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to be on hand at 8 p. m. (EST) when the Falcons take the floor against the high-scoring Rhode Island State Rams in the first game of the double-header. St. John's is paired against the West Virginia Mountaineers in the second game at 10 p. m.

The twin bill inaugurates a series of seven doubleheaders to be played during the next 12 days. On Saturday, Kentucky meets Arizona and Syracuse battles Muhlenberg in the remaining first round games of the invitation tourney. On Monday the semi-finals are scheduled with the championship final due on Wednesday. A week from today the eastern NCAA eliminations start between Ohio State, Harvard, North Carolina and New York university.

Bowling Green, runner-up to DePaul in last year's final, is favored by 11 points over Rhode Island. The Falcons have won 27 of 31 games and can boast of having inflicted one of the two defeats the Oklahoma Aggies, NCAA champs, have suffered this season. The Rhodies have a won-lost record of 19-2.

Unseeded St. John's, beaten five times during the season by Western Michigan, Kentucky, Syracuse, Temple and NYU, is favored over four points over West Virginia defeated only by Temple and the Navy in 24 starts.

Tiger Training Floors Three Husky War Vets

By The Associated Press

LAKELAND, Fla., March 14—Three husky young Detroit Tigers outfielders, who went through the war without an ache or pain, has to come to Florida to fall apart.

Barney McCoskey, the team's star pre-war centerfielder, has a pulled hip muscle that might keep him out of uniform for four more weeks. Dick Wakefield pulled something loose in his groin when he fell making a play for it field the other day. Pat Mullin, the rightfielder who hit around .340 before he was injured in 1941 is out of action with a pulled leg muscle.

LABOR PEACE FAILS TO KEEP STOCKS UP

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14—Scattered stocks leaned toward recovery in today's market although many leaders backed down when a first hour buying flurry failed to follow through.

General Motors was up a shade for a whole in reflection of the strike settlement but soon slipped into losing territory for a point or so along with Chrysler, Willys-Overland and Hudson Motors. Dealings, active at the opening, slowed later and trends were well mixed near the fourth hour.

General Electric retained a modest plus sign in the response to settlement of the company's labor controversy. United Gas improvement hardened as the S.E.C. approved portfolio changes for the corporation. On the upside fractions to a point most of the time were Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Schenley, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Standard Oil (NJ.)

To Our Service Customers

Most of you are going to drive the old bus all this summer, believe it or not.

Is Your Car Safe To Drive As It Is?

Would you not feel better to have your car checked over carefully for safe steering and control before something happens?

Let Us Help You!

No charge for work of any kind until you authorize it. We won't tell you what you need, we will show what you need. And don't forget, we can take out all the dents and bangs in the body of your car and give it a repaint job that you will be proud of.

This Saves You Money

Because when you trade your old car in you will get your money back. Keep your car in good condition and appearance — it pays you.
